Truman Wants Seaway

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress again today to authorize the St. Lawrence seaway and power project but Senator Tom Connally, a key lawmaker in the situation, gave the request a cold reception.

Connally, Texas Democrat and chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, arose in the Senate as soon as the request from Truman was read, and declared:

"I very much hope my committee will adhere to its former position of not reporting this bill."

"This is not the time to spend a billion dollars on something that will be frozen over five months of the year and will be built on foreign soil."

WILL CO-OPERATE

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Canada and the United States have agreed to co-operate in preparing applications to the International Joint Commission for approval of plans to develop power in the St. Lawrence River.

"This was disclosed today with the publication of an exchange of notes Jan. 11 between the two governments."

The United States government agreed to a request by the Canadian government that the appropriate officials of the two countries open a series of meetings to discuss the steps to be taken in proceeding with a reference to the joint commission.

Come On, Baseball Fans

With the Feb. 1 deadline drawing ominously near, the fate of baseball in Victoria seems insecure. Debits of approximately $35,000 face the Athletics. If approximately $15,000 of that sum can be raised to clean up immediate obligations, there is every likelihood that the time limit will be extended by the Western International League.

Thus far, about $3,000 has been raised. Consequently, something like $12,000 must be raised this week if the sport is to be kept alive in this city.

The Victoria Daily Times thinks that baseball is worth preserving. We see it not in the limited sport sense, but as a firm civic asset. Its value to the city as a promotional enterprise is unquestioned. Each night that the Athletics play, box scores, line scores and stories of the game are carried by the wire services to every city and town on the Pacific coast. The resultant publicity benefits are obvious. The name "Victoria" reaches the vast tourist audience where it is most needed. This in turn means more tourist dollars for transportation companies, merchants and others whose benefits are no less real, if somewhat more indirect.

We feel that baseball is properly the concern of civic groups—the tourist associations, automobile clubs, Chambers of Commerce (both Senior and Junior) and the service clubs. Their apathy to date seems to us short-sighted.

Victoria is a splendid sports town. When professional baseball came to Victoria after the war, this city was at the top of the league in attendance. In six seasons, more than 700,000 spectators have attended. Last year, with a team torn by internal dissension and strife, crowds fell off to 69,000. It has been estimated that 100,000 fans are enough to make the club break even.

Unless this last-week drive picks up, Victoria's franchise will be lost—and the likelihood is, will never be regained. This means not only the loss of professional baseball, with its attendant recreational and commercial benefits, but the loss of much-needed minor sport, as it is an axiom that the "pros" inspire and encourage the youngsters on the sand-lots.

We feel sure that the great majority of Victoria's sports fans will agree. They have been promised a "new deal" in the way of new management and direction. In the belief that this great game deserves civic support, The Times is throwing its weight behind the current campaign.

We urge all sports-minded citizens to do their part. The only official outlet is through the Booster Club, with headquarters in the Douglas Hotel.

British War Chiefs Meet On Egypt Crisis; 60 Die

Boyer Buried; Victorian Safe

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Joseph Macleod Boyer, Canada's trade commissioner killed during Cairo rioting, was buried in Cairo, the trade department was advised in a cable today.

The cable sent by C. E. Butterworth, assistant trade commissioner in Cairo, said Boyer was buried along with eight other victims of Saturday's uprising.

The cable added that Mrs. Boyer is returning to Canada shortly.

Body of Joseph Macleod Boyer, 58, Canadian trade commissioner in Cairo, has been found, according to Mrs. A. B. Boyer, 997 Wilmot Place. Her husband is a cousin of the commissioner.

Boyer was one of several persons who could not be traced after rioters burst into the British Club at the height of the anti-British riots raging in the Egyptian capital.

A native of Victoria, N.B., he last visited this city two years ago.

A former Victoria, B.C., girl, however, has apparently come through the uprising unscathed.

Dudley Jones, British engineer, wired today to his mother-in-law, Mrs. H. J. Schramm, 1232 Yates Street, that "all is well, don't worry." His wife, formerly Doris Schramm, and their daughter, are with him in Cairo.

Mrs. Jones was educated at St. Margaret's School here.

Milk Prices Under Review

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP)—The B.C. Milk Board was scheduled to meet today to consider its proposal to drop price controls above the producer level.

The three-member board will also consider Vancouver milk distributors' request to drop their application for higher milk prices and skip-a-day delivery.

Chairman E. C. Carr said today the "very short" meeting will not consider distributors' proposals to cut costs on milk distribution.

These proposals, being prepared in the hope that the Milk Board will not abandon price controls, will probably be heard Thursday, Mr. Carr said.

GARY COOPER LIKES KISSES

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 28 (AP)—Gary Cooper, usually thought of by moviegoers as the rugged hero type, admitted today one of the things he likes best about movies is all the kissing.

Cooper confessed that he enjoys each smack he gets on the screen—and he's been on the receiving end of many thousands of kisses.

'WITHIN A WEEK'

Massey May Be Married

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP)—The Toronto Telegram in a dispatch from London says today: "Friends here of Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's Governor-General designate, now expect, despite vehement denials from his family, he will marry within a week Baroness Ravensdale, 56-year-old spinster daughter of the late Marquis Curzon of Kedleston."

The story, by Jane Armstrong, the Telegram's staff correspondent in London, says that "since rumors of the romance first became current here, Lady Ravensdale has been as adroit as he in skirting the public eye and today at her Chelsea home she was refusing calls."

Confidence Vote For New Premier

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters)—Britain's three chiefs of staff were summoned to an emergency meeting today to discuss the dangerous situation in Egypt.

Anthony Head, war minister, and James Thomas, navy minister, were also present. A junior minister represented the R.A.F.

The meeting, summoned by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, had before it the latest reports from the British ambassador in Egypt, Sir Ralph Stevenson.

The ministers discussed the new situation created by King Farouk's dismissal of the Nahas Pasha cabinet following the Cairo riots Saturday.

CAIRO, Jan. 28 (CP)—The Chamber of Deputies tonight approved maintenance of martial law in all Egypt for a period of two months.

Martial law was imposed Saturday after rioters ran wild in Cairo, burning and looting buildings and causing the deaths of more than 60 persons, many of them foreigners.

Today's decision was made shortly after the new independent government of Ali Maher Pasha won a unanimous vote of confidence in both houses of parliament.

Egypt's new "strong man" premier, given the helm of government by King Farouk in the wake of wild anti-western rioting, said he won support of four political parties, including the powerful Wafd.

The Wafdist government, headed by Mustapha Nahas Pasha, was ousted last night.

The new government was sworn into office in a shift viewed by some western observers as a step which might ease the bloody dispute between Britain and Egypt.

In the Senate, Fouad Serag El Din, secretary-general of the Wafdist party which governed Egypt since 1950, said his party would support the new government "as long as it follows a national policy laid down by the whole nation."

The new premier already had pledged himself, in a radio address, to fulfill the "independent unity of the Nile valley and maintain stability and peace." This indicated he stands, like the Wafd, for getting the British out of the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan.

City Hall 'Blow-Up' Reported Imminent

New Resignation Adds To 'Seething Unrest'

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

Seething unrest among the 200-odd inside staff members, with a "blow-up" imminent over conditions at City Hall, was reliably reported today, when a letter of resignation from J. G. Archer, assistant city engineer, was received by city manager Cecil Wyatt.

Fires Take Lives Of 9 Children

Nine children died in week-end fires that destroyed their homes in widely-separated parts of Canada.

Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Einarsson were trapped in their beds in a remote settlement 115 miles north of Winnipeg. The father was away and the mother, who escaped, was unable to rescue the children.

Two brothers and a sister were burned to death when an early morning blaze in their home at Fruitland, Ont., near Hamilton, trapped them in upstairs bedrooms. They were children of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sykes. The parents escaped with a younger child.

Two young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Jacquard died and other members of the family leaped to safety from second-story windows when fire swept the Jacquard home at Yarmouth, N.S. There are six other children in the family.

Allies Hand New Prisoner Plan To Reds

MUNSAN, Korea, Jan. 28 (AP)—A detailed working draft of a 14-point United Nations plan for exchanging prisoners of war in Korea was handed to Communist truce negotiators today.

The Reds promised to study the proposal. The prisoner-exchange plan incorporates all basic points of the Allied proposal submitted Jan. 8, including voluntary repatriation which the Reds have said they never will accept.

It is a companion piece to the detailed draft on truce supervision given the Communists Sunday.

Staff officers were scheduled to start work on this Allied draft Monday; but the Communists asked for and got a 24-hour postponement.

Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby presented North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho a revised roster of 132,000 Communist prisoners-of-war held by the U.N., listing the names in Chinese and North Korean. He said the Allies also were ready to exchange information on allegedly missing prisoners.

Lee thanked Libby for the data but accused the Allies of attempting blackmail because they hold more prisoners than the Reds.

4 Believed Drowned In B.C. Waters

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP)—Four men are presumed to have been drowned in waters off the British Columbia coast and the body of another man was found today in Burrard Inlet.

Three men were believed to have died after their boat was wrecked by gales last week. The boat was located Saturday in Burke Channel, 30 miles from Bella Coola and about 250 miles up-coast from Vancouver.

Aboard the craft were David Cooper, owner of the boat; James Mack and George Clallamin, all of Bella Coola.

An R.C.M.P. boat today began dragging waters near Anvil Island, about 25 miles north of Vancouver, for the body of a logging camp operator unreported since Friday.

The situation has been building up since delivery of the mayor's inaugural address, according to one source, with the threatened resignation of Water Board Commissioner Ralph Davis Friday, touching off the conflagration.

In his letter of resignation Archer stated he was resigning because "conditions were intolerable."

LITTLE TO SAY

He did not elaborate and when queried merely stated: "I have nothing against the engineer and nothing against the public works department."

The manager and Ald. Percy Scourrah were instructed by the executive committee to survey the public works department with a view to obtaining greater efficiency.

They were scheduled to report to a meeting of the executive committee, headed by Mayor Claude Harrison at 4 this afternoon.

It is understood an engineer, working in the department, may be offered Archer's post, should the latter's resignation be accepted.

It is also believed that W. J. Carter, who has been acting superintendent since the death of the superintendent last May, will be put in another position, if the general reorganization is approved. He was formerly chief carpenter.

GENERAL MEETING

Today's developments included a general meeting of the public works inside staff employees—about 35. While it was not directly concerned with the changes it is understood to be a part of the general pattern of "unrest."

"This thing is leading to an unholy blow-up," said one City Hall source. "The employees don't know where they stand. Conditions are unstable."

Unions are reported to be watching developments closely in case of any contravention of working agreements.

Question of who administers City Hall policy as laid down by City Council is considered one of the chief bones of contention.

Wyatt, under clause of the Municipal Manager's Bylaw is responsible for carrying out or directing collective bargaining with all city employees, other than the police and to recommend to council agreements concerning wages, salaries and working conditions.

The clause continues: "And upon approval to administer such agreements and in general to be responsible for wage and salary administration subject to normal grievance procedures."

CLAUDE CLASHES

Some City Hall sources cannot reconcile that clause with duties of the executive committee as outlined by the mayor in his inaugural address. Included in the duties are "civil service, civic management and salaries and wages."

The mayor's statements in his inaugural address, to the effect that he had his doubts as to the value of a city manager but that the system must be given a trial, are said to have contributed to the present situation.

Davis, commissioner for the Greater Victoria Water Board, said he would resign at a stormy meeting Friday, when on motion of the mayor, the board cut his salary by $900 a year and the use of a car, valued by the board at $600 a year.

His resignation depends on outcome of a special study on his salary, by Reeve P. A. Gibbs, Reeve Joe Casey and Mayor Harrison.

Archer, who has been with the city for the past three years, came to Victoria from the Fraser Valley Dyking Board. He was superintendent of the Upper Reaches. He came to Canada from Scotland after the war.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Jan. 28 (CP)—The 1947 unsolved case of the poisoned bride took a new twist today when the dead bride's father was charged with shooting with intent to kill.

Two revolver bullets Sunday night lodged in the car of Jack Cooper, 30, whose 17-year-old first wife died from an overdose of drugs in March, 1947.

David Simons, 51, of Vancouver, father of the dead bride, was arrested and charged with "shooting at a loaded revolver at Cooper with intent to kill."

Abbott and Justice Minister Stuart Garson concluded a four-day visit to West Germany today with an inspection of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade.

HANNOVER, Germany, Jan. 28 (AP)—Finance Minister Abbott of Canada said today he invited West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to visit Canada.

GAVIN MCCULLOUGH

MARTHA LOUISE, 7

MRS. LILLIAN MCCULLOUGH

SAYS RESPONSIBLE FOR CHILD SLAYING

Apprehension Of 'Faith Healer' Demanded By Winnipeg Clergyman

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 28 (UP)—Rev. Dr. W. F. Martin, minister of Winnipeg's Grace United Church, declared in a sermon here Sunday night that the bludgeoning-slaying of a seven-year-old girl was "indirectly occasioned" by the visit of a "faith healer."

He called for the apprehension of Rev. A. C. Valdez Jr., who held a faith-healing campaign here from Jan. 6 to 20. Rev. Valdez, makes his headquarters in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Lillian McCullough, 52, charged jointly with her husband in the slaying of her adopted daughter, was receiving treatment in the psychopathic ward of Winnipeg General Hospital today.

She was admitted to the hospital Sunday under police guard and placed under sedatives. Her husband, Gavin, 51, was under continuous guard at the police station here.

The couple turned police court into an uproar Saturday when they were charged with the death of their daughter, Martha Louise, whom they adopted as a baby.

The child's body was found Friday afternoon after police went to the McCullough home to question them on a "prayer session" they had held in a vacant lot in subzero temperatures, clad only in night attire. Mr. McCullough suffered frost-bitten feet.

SCATTERED ABOUT HOUSE
Police found religious literature scattered about the house and furniture disarranged. The body of the child was found in an upstairs bedroom. An empty one-quart bottle, which police said was used to beat the child, was found nearby.

Mrs. McCullough had to be dragged into police court and shouted for her husband until taken out again.

The McCulloughs, described by neighbors as "deeply religious," had attended Rev. Valdez' faith healing sessions daily during his stay in Winnipeg.

Mr. Martin said in his sermon: "I consider that a large measure of responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the man who indirectly occasioned this tragedy."

"Had I the say, he would be brought back as a material witness in the case."

He told his congregation he was sorry for "this couple whose lives have been wrecked by this so-called mission."

Evangelist A. C. Valdez Jr., whose arrest has been demanded by a minister in Winnipeg in connection with the slaying of the doped daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin McCullough, is the same thick-set, dark-haired man whose persuasive voice was heard in Victoria, last August and September.

In a carnival-type tent seating more than 2,000, at the corner of Quadra and Pembroke Street, Valdez "cursed" affliction and commanded the lame to walk, the blind to see, the deaf to hear.

He was advertised as "God's anointed, who has the gift of divine healing." He claimed that "thousands were being saved and healed at his meetings."

Valdez told The Victoria Times: "I was given healing powers by God two years ago. But people must have faith and must humble themselves before God. I am just the medium."

At one service in the "big tent" here, several testimonies of cures were given. Jean Parker, 545 Hillside Avenue, claimed sight was restored to her left eye; C. J. Rodway, 1348 Hollywood Crescent, reported his left leg, injured in an accident two years ago, had healed; W. C. Astrop, 921 Darwin, testified he could hear with his left ear, injured by a shell explosion in First World War.

Valdez held services here for about three weeks, with attendances running around the 2,000 mark.

Cooper told reporters he had been threatened often and that he has left a letter addressed to police in his safety deposit box. It is to be opened in case he dies suddenly, he said.

Cooper's first wife, Ruth, died in their apartment March 10, 1947. She was found dead on the bed. Cooper was unconscious beside her.

No inquest was ordered at the time but Simons later demanded one. It was held in April, 1949, when the body of the bride was exhumed.

The jury decided the drug was administered by "person or persons unknown" and Cooper was cleared of any connection with his wife's death.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Our friends are visiting us now, seeing at first hand the processes and the equipment which turn out their daily newspaper. Some of them will complete the plant tour with a fair idea of the different steps that go into publication. Others will wander off thinking in terms of that old song: "You push the middle valve down, and the music goes round and round, and it comes out here."

All of them should leave with a clearer realization of the factors involved when they say: "Why doesn't your newspaper..."

But even if they could follow every mechanical process through its bewildering intricacies—even if they could see the transformation of the idea in the writer's head to its eventual emergence in the columns of The Times, they'd still have only a partial understanding of a newspaper.

A newspaper can never be defined in purely physical terms. It's a thing of character, of personality, of color, of tradition, of ideas and of spirit. It is all these and more. To understand it a person would have to know the hearts and minds of those who work for the publication, would have to feel and think with it, would have to see below the surface to the ingredients that make its policy.

The public recognizes that, though it may not probe into the subject. A man likes, or doesn't like, this or that paper. He has been taught to identify certain standards of excellence, the Christian Science Monitor, the Manchester Guardian, the New York Times, the Times of London, the Washington Post, and some of the foreign journalistic giants he has never seen and couldn't read even if he saw them.

He just likes it. He has his own favorites closer to home. He likes them and that's usually good enough for him. He doesn't have to analyse that.

But he probably wonders, occasionally, how a paper got the way it is, what made the men, women and boys who work for it choose the newspaper business as a profession, why they stay with it in a peculiar loyalty that is matched in few other crafts, why they call it a "game."

There isn't any answer to all those questions. It isn't just a desire to write. Some top-notch newspapermen never make writers. Many top-notch writers never make newspapermen.

Maybe it's more an addiction than a profession. People in it often cuss the business, wonder why they started in it, say they long to get out of it and frequently aren't happy if they quit.

The virus enters them early. A kid, perhaps swayed by a Hollywood picture of those unrealistic reporters with hats on the backs of their heads, dreams of the excitement and interest the job offers.

He'll move in as an office boy, dreaming of the day when he'll be promoted to a news job—just a small part, picking up or covering minor sport. He keeps on dreaming as he progresses, leaving a beat for a more important one—never quite losing his delight in breaking a story first, always glowing happily over compliments handed to him.

Protective Cynicism. He passes through phases. Cynicism covers him in a veneer—a protective coating that can hide a credulousness often unbelievable. He mingles with important figures—as the old bromide has it, "meets the most interesting people." And he keeps growing up.

Some, in the business, reach the top, become national and international personalities in their own rights, set patterns for younger generations of newspaper people to follow. There are the Arthur Krocks, the Ernie Pyles, the Walter Lippmanns and the gossip columnists with their fabulous incomes. There are the drifters and the dyspeptics—all different, but all somehow tied together in the job of presenting to the public the incidents of importance and interest through the medium of print.

They share similar nostalgias for their old newspaper homes and the associations around them. When they're cut, they bleed like other people, but they're somehow set apart, men, women, boys and girls sensitive to deadline fever, curious and interested in the world around them, anxious to set down on paper what they see and what they hear, what they feel and what they think.

They're part of the picture of a newspaper that doesn't show in a tour of the plant, but they're also part of the picture which makes one paper more attractive than the next to the person who pays a few cents for it on the street.

Alberta Chinook Sneaks Glance At Saskatchewan

EDMONTON, Jan. 28 (CP)—Neglected Saskatchewan, in some places 60 degrees colder than next-door Alberta, today can look for some sign of an Alberta chinook sliding over the border.

Like every chinook, this one is roughish. It hit Calgary at 4.15 p.m. Sunday, jumping the temperature from 14 above to 35. Thirty minutes later a switch in the wind sent the mercury scurrying back down and boosted the temperature back up to a high of 41 above.

The sudden temperature changes followed a gradual rise from -12 overnight.

But in Saskatchewan, Prince Albert was 26 below at mid-morning today, and North Battleford was 12 below.

The minimum temperature at Lethbridge overnight was 38 above. The minimum at Prince Albert was 35 below.

The weather office at Edmonton said the trend of moderation would continue in Alberta. Saskatchewan would have higher temperatures tomorrow, but the forecaster said that there was "no assurance" that the chinook would get to Saskatchewan.

Flood Waters Force Mass Evacuations In Ohio, West Kentucky; National Guard Alerted

MARIETTA, O., Jan. 28 (AP)—Thousands of persons in Ohio and West Virginia moved to higher ground today as floods caused by heavy rainfall sent the Ohio River and other streams out of their banks.

At least three persons were dead or missing. The high water also hit portions of western Pennsylvania and northern Kentucky.

The turbulent Ohio struck hardest at Wheeling Island, a section of the city of Wheeling, W.Va. Partial evacuation of the island's 10,000 population was underway.

Most of the island's streets were impassable early today. If the river continues to rise as expected the entire island will be covered.

At Powhatan Point, O., 15 miles south of Wheeling, the towboat Chief Powhatan broke its moorings on the Ohio side, hit a pier at a railway bridge and sank. No one was aboard.

HIGHWAYS COVERED—The mass evacuation of Ohio River residents is only the beginning if the river's rise continues. It was expected to hit 12 feet above flood stage in at least a dozen Ohio and West Virginia communities. Many of them were isolated when high water covered nearby highways.

Governor Frank J. Lausche has ordered National Guard units to stand by.

All along the Ohio River residents awaited word from Pittsburgh on what to expect. At Pittsburgh, where the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers join the Ohio, the Ohio crested at 29.7 feet early today—five feet above flood stage.

Most of the 800 to 900 population of Stratton and Empire, some 40 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, is being evacuated. More than eight feet of water stood in the village streets.

Car Collision Victims Better

Condition of two children injured in a Friday afternoon car accident, that claimed the life of their grandmother, was reported today to have improved at Jubilee Hospital.

Brian and Heather Davidson, 3145 Alder, aged nine and seven, respectively, were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Olive E. Davidson, 62, of 2963 Westdowne, who was crushed under the dual wheels of a truck in a Hillside-Sherbourne collision.

An inquest jury will sit Tuesday morning at 10.30 at B.C. Funeral Parlors to probe circumstances of the accident.

41 Burn To Death In Bus Explosion

ATLIXCO, Mexico, Jan. 28 (CP)—Forty-one persons including six small children were burned to death Saturday in a bus fire and explosion. Six passengers escaped with severe burns.

Survivors said the fire broke out when the driver lit a cigarette and tossed the burning match to the floor near a leaking gasoline tank.

The gasoline caught fire. The driver dived through the window and fled and the bus crashed into a tree. An explosion followed and the bus caught fire. Police are searching for the driver.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

By PHILIP LEE

Condensed from CP, AP, and UP Dispatches

DRAGGING—In Miami Beach, Fla., columnist Walter Winchell said Sunday night he will "drop everything" for at least a month to rest and undergo various physical tests.

Winchell said his physician and a heart specialist examined him Sunday and told him that his condition was "good" but if he didn't stop all activity he might not be around to talk about it in another week or a month.

Winchell said he found himself "dragging along the street" and rubbing his eyes from what he thought was eye strain. He said he had difficulty breathing and this prompted the examinations.

He said the doctors told him to take a vacation from his work, to attend his races, play golf and relax at night clubs which he has covered for 32 years. He said further examinations will be made Monday.

UNMENTIONABLES — In Vancouver three teen-agers boys were held in the juvenile detention home Sunday night, accused of stealing women's underclothes from dozens of city homes during the last year.

Police said the trio, all deaf mutes, stole nothing else. Fourteen apartments of homes were "prowled" Friday night alone, police said. That was the night the three were arrested.

CHIEF—In London the Sunday Times chided Canada for recent displays of what it terms "nationalistic emphasis."

The influential Conservative newspaper says Vincent Massey's appointment as Governor-General of Canada gives "wide spread personal pleasure" but it voices doubt about the break with tradition marked in choosing a Canadian for the post.

"Nor can the event be seen apart from the fact that Canada is seeking to shed her honorable title of Dominion, and is reported to be outgrowing 'Royal' allusions from various public uses," says the Times editorial.

WASTE—In Milwaukee Gov. Earl Warren of California "would be wasting his time" if he should decide to enter the Wisconsin presidential primary now, one of Warren's former supporters said today.

Louis J. Cecil, chairman of the 5th District Young Republicans Federation, said "it is too late now to get an organization going in time for the primary."

Warren said Sunday he still hadn't decided whether to campaign in Wisconsin for the Republican presidential nomination.

HAVOC — In Minneapolis a mother and her four children were injured, burned to death today in a fire which swept through a three-story business and apartment building on the edge of the Minneapolis loop district.

Eight other occupants of the buildings were accounted for but firemen believed they had taken refuge with friends to escape 15-below-zero weather.

One man was badly burned and the father of the four children was taken to General Hospital in an incoherent condition from shock.

APPOINTMENT—In Washington, President Truman is expected to appoint Ivar H. Peterson this week to the National Labor Relations board.

The five-man panel that spells out the legal ground rules for collective bargaining. A 40-year-old native of Kettle Falls, Wash., now administrative assistant to Sen. Wayne Morse, Peterson knows the rules well.

The Oregon Republican is one of the most active members of the Senate Labor Committee and Peterson himself put in seven years with the board as an attorney and assistant general counsel.

Peterson would fill out the unexpired term of James J. Reynolds Jr., who quit last month for a job in private industry. Board members serve for five years, on a staggered basis to assure continuity.

Alexander, Now Earl, Reads Thanks As Term Ends; Broadcast Planned

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Lord Alexander, no longer Canada's Governor-General and no longer a viscount, today attacked a pile of letters from friends thanking him for work he did during the last six years.

His term expired at midnight Sunday night. Chief Justice Thibault said Alexander will spend the next two weeks cleaning up their affairs.

There will be no more square dances but Lord Alexander plans to get in some skiing in the Gatineau hills.

More than 20 official engagements, running all the way up to Toronto's King's Plate horse race in May, have been canceled.

There are, however, a few functions the Alexanders will attend, including the state dinner traditionally given by the government to a retiring Governor-General and probably a dinner to be given in their honor by the diplomatic corps.

The Alexanders will entertain members of the Parliamentary press gallery and their wives Wednesday night. Lord Alexander also will attend a meeting of the Canadian conference of defense associations here.

It had been his hope to make a farewell tour of Canada before leaving in the early autumn.

However, this now is impossible and arrangements are being made for a national broadcast.

Lord Alexander will be sworn in tomorrow morning as a member of the Canadian Privy Council.

Big Three Adopts Stern Attitude On Indo-China

PARIS, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today formally announced that they would demand United Nations' action in the event of Chinese Communist or Russian aggression in southeast Asia.

John Sherman Cooper of the U.S. said such aggression would be a matter for "most urgent and earnest consideration by the United Nations."

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain immediately declared that his government associated itself with this "important statement."

Francis Lacoste of France said his country would demand immediate and effective intervention from the U.N. if the Chinese Reds moved against Indo-China.

The three western spokesmen made their declarations in the U.N. political committee during a debate on the question of condemning Russia for allegedly violating her 1945 treaty with Nationalist China.

Cooper called the committee's attention to implied threats against southeast Asia made earlier at this assembly session by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia.

GRAVE MATTER
Cooper said he had been instructed by the U.S. government to "state clearly that any such Communist aggression in southeast Asia would be a matter of direct and grave concern which would require the most urgent and earnest consideration by the United Nations."

The American spokesman said he was "sure that all of the peace-loving states represented here must share the concern of my government over the threat of further Communist aggression in Asia which may be latent in the Soviet representative's statement of Jan. 3."

In the speech to which Cooper referred, Vishinsky accused the U.S. of preparing aggressive measures against Communist China along the south China borders. The Soviet diplomat then declared:

"These illegal, flagrantly illegal acts of the United States, we can be quite sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression when ever events begin to take their course on the southern borders of China, in Thailand, Burma and Yunnan province (of China)."

Vishinsky did not amplify what he meant by "events," but some delegates construed his remarks as a warning that the Chinese Reds might use the charges of U.S. aggression to justify new military action on the southern borders.

Top military leaders of the United States, Britain and France met in Washington recently to discuss counter-moves to any Red aggression in southeast Asia. Today's statement was the first specific American indication of what action the U.S. would take.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, speaking Jan. 11 in New York, said that if Chinese Communists "intervened" in southeast Asia, "in such an event the United Nations, I trust, would be equally firm to resist it."

Ike's Hat First In Ring

CONCORD, N.H., Jan. 28 (UP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower is listed officially in New Hampshire today as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The general's name automatically goes on the ballot for the March 11 primary, first in the nation, since he failed to ask that it be withdrawn.

Eisenhower's name was filed by Governor Sherman Adams Jan. 17 and under New Hampshire law, the general had 10 days in which to ask that it be withdrawn. The deadline passed Sunday with no word from the general.

So far Eisenhower is the only potential candidate whose name is listed, but it was expected that Republican backers of Harold E. Stassen would file his name tomorrow and that Democrats would enter Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in the primaries before the Wednesday deadline.

The Boss

NOW THAT THE DUST HAS SETTLED temporarily in provincial politics one fact stands out above all others—Premier Johnson's mastery of his government and party.

For the last year or so that mastery seemed to be slipping. The reason was simple enough. Mr. Johnson had received in an automobile accident more serious injuries than he or his friends supposed. A weaker man would have quit politics in the face of this personal disaster and sought a quicker recovery in private life.

Mr. Johnson decided to remain but, as the public record showed, his leadership in government and party suffered. The management of a coalition government, one party of which threatened to quit at any convenient moment and meanwhile engaged in quiet sabotage, was no job for a sick man. At the last session of the legislature, the government was confused, hesitant and ill-led simply because its leader, though disguised by his illness, was in no physical condition to manage the party or the House.

The question which thus arose during the ensuing months was whether Mr. Johnson could recover his old energy and flair. Undoubtedly Mr. Johnson asked himself that question as the end of coalition rapidly approached and Mr. Anscomb prepared to destroy the government at leisure.

When the executive of the Liberal party met in Vancouver a short time ago the question came into the open and Mr.

Johnson was ready for it. A small group of dissident Liberals (who had misjudged both their leader and their party) undertook to unseat the premier. That, and nothing less, was the meaning of their resolution proposing an immediate party convention in defiance of Mr. Johnson's wishes and schedule. The time had come when he must decide whether he was to renew his leadership or retire, leaving his party to the chaos planned by the rebels.

At this decisive moment Mr. Johnson acted with his old courage. His speech denouncing the rebellion and refusing any compromise with the rebels showed that he had recovered not only his health but his confidence. The party rallied instantly when it saw a man who knew precisely where he was going. The rebellion was crushed and the party returned to its normal state of order.

When another kind of rebellion was attempted by Mr. Anscomb in the business of the taxation agreement Mr. Johnson struck instantly and alone. His recovery, both physically and politically, was now complete. That is the real meaning of these crowded events.

Mr. Johnson now faces a difficult year—a session of the legislature with a small majority behind him and then an election. But his real watershed was crossed when, with restored health, he asserted his leadership and his party gladly confirmed it.

The Stall For Time

MR. VISHINSKY'S PROPOSAL THAT the truce issues now being thrashed out at Panmunjom be removed to the jurisdiction of the United Nations Security Council had a measure of unconscious logic about it. For by adopting the suggestion, the U.N. would have removed the Chinese puppets from the negotiations and revealed Russia as the real power behind the Communist arguments at the peace talks.

With Mr. Vishinsky himself as direct representative of Communist interests in the Far East, and Peking placed on a side track for the time being, it would have become more obvious to the world just whom the U.N. is facing in Korea. Emphasis on that aspect, needless to say, was not the Soviet intention.

The Russian resolution would not have confined the Korean debate merely to truce matters. A general discussion of the whole Korean problem was demanded, giving the talks a scope that would allow full play to Soviet obstruction and propaganda tactics. The way would have been paved for indefinite extension of the present stalemate near the 38th parallel while the Chinese built up still larger military preparations in the peninsula.

With a full appreciation of these factors the General Assembly voted the resolution down.

The basis of the decision was clear, for the Communist aggression is directed as much against the United Nations as against Korea. It is the U.N. authority that has been ignored, U.N. troops who have been fired upon, U.N. prestige that has been threatened. To treat with the enemy while the latter still refuses to come to terms on a truce would be to overlook too much.

Oak Bay Studies Underground Wiring

THE STUDY IS PROBABLY PURELY academic at the moment, but Oak Bay's interest in provision of underground wiring for electrical services in new subdivisions is valuable at this time.

The present emergency, which puts the type of high voltage synthetic cables used for that purpose on an extremely high priority and makes the material virtually unobtainable for municipal work, should not last indefinitely. The subdivisions, on the other hand, are relatively permanent.

Costs of putting the wires underground, even without the problems of present scarcities, raise some difficulties. Modern synthetic developments, however, have reduced the expense of that procedure and, were it not for defense needs, the system could be considered reasonable in much new residential development.

In the Uplands the absence of unsightly poles and wires is a condition that draws favorable comment from all who contrast it against the spider-web effect in Victoria and other sections of the Lower Island.

It is worthy of note, moreover, that the city itself has followed the policy of using underground wiring for its street lighting system and that telephone cables are similarly laid in the downtown area.

Transformation from aerial to underground wiring in this region is considered unfeasible at the present time, owing to costs, but the plan should not be ignored where new settlement is taking place. And while due consideration is taken of present conditions in relation to supplies of synthetic cable, it is still encouraging to learn that the city electrical authorities have not lost sight of Montreal's project.

There the wiring is being laid underground in a progressive program by which the city furnishes the ducts and rental is charged to the utilities which use them.

lofty heights, that streets and sidewalks, the work of man, may be but transient.

Yet, in common sense, the cottonwood has been consigned to the wood-yard. In time, if it had not already reached that point, it would have become dangerous to people passing by.

It is not so important that a single tree should be removed. It is, on the other hand, significant that its removal should have stirred such wide comment, should have roused such indignant opposition.

Let those who will decry the tree lover. As long as he is alive and in such numbers as the cottonwood episode has revealed, there is an honest core of nature appreciation in our city.

Sleeping Through The Years

ONE OF THE MYSTERIES OF MEDICAL science, a man who lived in a coma for nine years after being struck on the head at the age of 52, has been intensified by the recent death of the patient. For in the long time during which he lay unconscious, the accident victim gave no appearance of aging.

The case has naturally aroused considerable speculation in medical circles. One theory is that some still-uncovered unit in the brain can control the process we know as aging, and that in the case of "Patient X" that process was held in abeyance. Obviously, a new and interesting field of study has been opened, with implications of enormous benefit to mankind.

LOOSE ENDS

The Empty Tower

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE TRAINS from the west get into Ottawa at about six a.m. This is a political fact of first-rate importance and serious danger. I have always believed that the railways' foolish schedule is one of the main causes of trouble in the government of Canada.

Every day of the year the government is besieged by delegations and suitors of one sort and another who, roused from their berths at about 5 o'clock, are cranky and reasonable and only half awake. If the railways would change their time table government in Canada would be a lot easier.

Anyway, one's arrival in Ottawa is not what it used to be. As I write this—the train being happily five hours late—the lean icicle of the Victory Tower has just appeared on the horizon, one of the few things that men have built with their hands in this country. But even the tower isn't what it used to be.

WHEN I arrived in Ottawa for the first time nearly thirty years ago the tower and its surrounding mediaeval denizens, keeps and battlements were a sight to leave a Pacific Coast boy gasping in wonderment. Eastern Canada was then another nation and Ottawa a white frosted fairland.

Well, there is Ottawa through the car window, there is the stone icicle dripping from a snow-filled sky, there are the green copper roofs and the tangle of turrets and flying buttresses, there is the capital of the most fortunate nation in the world and the heart of our Canadian life, but this morning I am not gasping in the least. I can take Ottawa with a tremor. Something has gone wrong with it, somewhere along the line. The fairy tale is over, the magic casements are closed tight.

THE inhabitants of Ottawa don't look as big as they used to either. What remains of my reason tells me that our politicians are probably abler than they were three decades back but all my instincts deny it. The giants of a man's youth, I suppose, will remain gigantic to the end.

Hence I can never quite believe that there is ever now the drama of those days when a raw boy from out west looked down from the gallery for the first time on the long blood feud between Mackenzie King and Arthur Meighen. Nothing like the spectacle of the plump little prime minister waving his clenched fist, his single lock of hair sprawled across his forehead, and across the aisle the placid stare, the corded sarcasm and the shattering logic of the opposition leader.

YES, the well-chiseled stone face of Charlie Dunning, the bristling goatee of Daddy Motherwell, the bearded and saintly visage of Woodsworth, the pink English face of the young Coldwell, unlined as yet by disillusionment, the huge black bulk of the great Lapointe whose oratory made every other speech sound like a kindergarten recitation, and Speaker Lemieux in silk knee breeches like a courtier of the Sun King, and the square form of Harry Stevens who would inevitably have been prime minister if he had not sedulously destroyed himself, and the ducal figure of Bennett in grey tail coat, appealing alternately to God and high finance—these were the giants and where are they now?

DEAD for the most part or forgotten. I dare say their successors are just as big or bigger, grappling with bigger problems, certainly, in a bigger country and a more dangerous age, but they will never look the same to me. Something magical has gone out of Ottawa. The great age has passed.

Probably it never existed, except in a boy's imagination. And the great age of today—great by every measurement of national progress—also exists only in the imagination of youth and will pass in its time to be succeeded by a greater, so long as there are young Canadians to imagine it.

AS I WATCH the stone icicle moving closer across the white sweep of the Ottawa, watch it unmoved in my tired skepticism, I am convinced that no one above the age of half a century should be allowed to come to Ottawa at all. He should stay home with his dream intact, contented with his illusions. He should let the young come here, to gaze out of the train window at dawn and see upon the bluff above Champlain's river, the fairy towers and the magic casements of Canadian life.

I cannot see them this morning. Only some hunk of grey stone housing today's giants, who can move the boy of yesterday to respect but never to tears.

NO OTTAWA isn't what it used to be and doubtless never was, but if its great age was only a contemporary dream it remains more real than reality. Its ghosts are more lively than its living men and its towers this morning are an empty stage setting for a play which ended long ago.

Inside Looking Out

New York Times

FEW things in life are quite so satisfactory as having a working halce beside a window which faces the woods. Spaced so, satisfaction is guaranteed.

To be sure, the great novel cannot be written there, nor the play, the symphony cannot be composed there, nor the sermon studied, nor can the seamstress of the house put together the new taffeta party dress.

But this need not matter, for already there may have been enough novels and dresses for the present season, and so the more satisfactory things of life are more important at the moment.

Certainly, to be seated facing the woods is satisfactory, and in more ways than through the fact the novel, sermon and symphony must necessarily be postponed.

One of these ways lies in noting, from a warm room free of work, how unpleasant everything is outside. Nature seems always to be in a bitter struggle with itself. Not content with simply sitting back and observing, as can be done from the inner side of the window, nature outside is actively furious.

The whole scene is of anger outside the window, and would be very upsetting to anyone really trying to get on with the third act. The utmost in satisfaction comes from finding the window before wasting time over the first two.

Playing Two Games At Once

As Our Readers See It

WATER COMMISSIONER

Congratulations on your fine editorial re the water commissioner. It is all very well for the mayor to make a splash by cutting off a few hundred dollars here and there—but to me and a lot of my friends it smacks of pettiness.

How can our officials work if they are constantly being obstructed with these nagging restraints? Internal harmony is essential in any office, as any businessman knows.

We have a first-class water commissioner now. If he is cheese-pared so that he has to resign, we may get a "cheap" engineer whose mistakes could cost us hundreds of thousands. Recently I heard Davis give a talk on the water future of this district. He spoke with quiet authority of the job to be done. Won't it just be dandy if we have a "cheap" engineer in 1960—and no water?

STEWART JAMES.

SERVICE CENTRE

I read with interest the story in the Times about the need of a Service Centre in Victoria. I also noted the statement of the mayor that service men had not been treated right in Victoria and they have no place to go.

I came to Victoria about a year ago. For some months I wandered the streets with no place to go until I discovered the Y.M.C.A. had activities for service men. Since then I have spent almost every evening at the "Y."

Every Monday night you can find about 100 service men at the free dance put on by the Y.M.C.A. for service men, besides the many other events.

I am in favor of a Service Men's Centre, but I do think the Y.M.C.A. deserves some recognition for the work they are doing and I know others besides myself have always found a welcome there.

Although I have always been treated right by Victorians I congratulate the mayor on his stand.

GUNNER WALL.

DOCTRINE

Referring to Mr. Gale's letter, I also have read the report on church doctrine, published in 1938 with the approval of the Archbishops of Canterbury and York.

The pronouncement that the first two chapters of Genesis are a mythological origin, and that their value for us is symbolic rather than historical, simply means that the Bible is as worthless as a fairy tale. If one part can be disproved the whole book is open to question.

St. Paul in his letter to Timothy said: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God," and the Church of England replies: "The tradition of the inerrancy of the Bible cannot be maintained in the light of the knowledge now at our disposal."

Since the rulings of science have superseded the word of God it seems conclusive that Fidei Defensor can no longer be the watchword of the Church of England.

H. ARNOLD.

FACE FACTS

Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad. Surely it is madness to try and pretend that Mr. Penfold was not absolutely right when he stated, in effect, that the rates of public utilities were set when the new rate of wages was set.

His wording might have been unfortunate, but at least it accomplished its purpose, namely, to focus attention on one of the glaring stupidities of our time. No one denies labor the right of bargaining for better wages. It is our law. But please, in the name of common sense, let us face the fact that higher wages mean higher rates for light, transportation, etc. The two are indivisible, and should, of course, be considered at the same time.

How childish for city councils and labor unions to protest later when the question of higher rates for public services arises. Of what use is it to lock the stable door when the horse is gone? If we are to survive, more intelligence must be used. Labor and management must get together with good will and restraint and decide at the same time the new wages and their effect on the rates for public services.

Please, why cannot we all be sensible?

CREDIT TO Y.M.C.A.

I notice on the front page of the Times Mayor Harrison states that the army, navy and air force have been treated badly in Victoria and that there is no place where service men can go.

I agree that a Service Centre would be a great help here, but would also like to point out that things are not as bad as your paper makes out.

Since coming to Victoria many of the service men as well as myself have spent a great deal of time at the Y.M.C.A. I understand the Victoria Y.M.C.A. to be the first organization in Canada to come to the aid of service men.

Last spring the "Y" organized a hostess club and put on weekly dances free of charge. Several free formal dances are sponsored by the "Y" for service men during the year. These dances are still going on.

A concert party was also organized by the "Y" and concerts are put on at both army and navy camps as well as the Veterans' Hospital.

No service man has to my knowledge been turned away from the "Y." As service men are always treated right at the "Y," I would like to bring this to your readers' attention so they will not think that nothing is being done. The "Y" also found places for service men to go for Christmas dinner.

Whereas a Service Centre would be a good thing for Victoria, let's not forget the fine job the Y.M.C.A. is doing for us men in the services.

Experience Gives Eisenhower Edge

By WALTER LIPPMANN

MUCH is being made of the fact that Gen. Eisenhower, though a candidate, has not come forward with a personal declaration of his views on the issues that are before Congress. This is undoubtedly an effective talking point, and in the two camps which are opposed to him—Taft's and Truman's—the most will be made of it.

There is, in my view, a little something but not very much in it. I say that because I have such a very low opinion of the value and significance of modern political declarations. They are almost invariably synthetic and contrived, and they are designed to make the noises which are believed to be popular without uttering any of the significant words which might be unpopular.

Mr. Stassen's recent statement, announcing his candidacy is a perfect example. He is fervently, boldly, uncompromisingly for all the abstract nouns which nobody would dream of disputing. To read Mr. Stassen's declaration does not throw even a glint of light on what he would do if he were elected.

NOT EASY

Like everyone else I would like to know in advance what kind of president a candidate will make. It is not easy to know that, and prepared statements of views—which in more than one campaign I have seen in the process of being prepared, polished, polished—are not reliable evidence. There is no dependable connection between what the brain trust and the ghost writers persuade the candidate to say and what in the face of events he does when he is in office—see, for example, the campaign speeches of Franklin Roosevelt in 1932.

On the whole the best evidence by which to judge a candidate is, I believe, in the story of how he has handled himself before he was a candidate rather than in what he says when he is a candidate. For the presidency the best training and the best testing ground have been the governorship of a state.

Now neither Taft nor Eisenhower has been trained and tested in this way. Both men, as a matter of fact, would have much to overcome from their past experience—Eisenhower, the insulation of a soldier's life within the military hierarchy, and Taft, a lifetime of frustration and fault-finding and negativism in the opposition.

As between the two experiences, neither of them ideal for the presidency, Eisenhower's in the past ten years has been far the better preparation. He has been executive, constructive, and he has borne the burden of the greatest responsibility.

FREQUENTLY TESTED

The fate of nations has turned upon his decisions, and though he has talked when the occasion required it, and talked exceedingly well, talking, speaking, debating, statement-making have not been his principal occupation.

He has been tested not once but again and again in great affairs, and while I do not doubt that he will make political mistakes—lacking experience in particular politics—for the office of president in these times we know a lot more about Eisenhower's capacity than we do about Taft's.

How can anyone expect an intelligent opinion about, let us say, inflation except in relation to a situation of more war or of more peace? It would be silly for Eisenhower, as it will be for Taft or Stassen, to undertake to say what the Republican party is going to do about taxes, credit, subsidies, wage policies on the assumption or with the implication that these "issues" can be dealt with outside the context of the great global struggle.

The case for Eisenhower rests upon the fact that among the men available he gives the most promise of being able to lead us through the hard times to come. He knows more about the over-riding issues than does any one of his rivals, and more people here and throughout the world trust him.

Even with Eisenhower it is a gamble. There is no sure thing ahead of us. I would rather take the gamble with our people united and with a man who has gone through the fires of supreme responsibility.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"WITH MORE THAN TWO BILLION folks aboard," said the Elevator Man, "the earth is getting pretty crowded in spots. If we were all spread out, of course, it wouldn't be so noticeable. But a lot of places would look a good deal worse."

There's still a few areas where every prospect pleases and the rest of creation has elbow room. Of course, what the snakes, the use flies, poisonous spiders, tigers, bears, vultures and insect-eating orchids do with their elbow room is not our affair. We can't be blamed if every living thing wants to act human. Going down!

"I see," said the Elevator Man, "where a bunch of people living in a big apartment house in London are complaining about the noise. The women say they can't quarrel with their husbands, kiss their children good night or stir a cup of tea without three other families hearing it. Apparently the sound-proofing isn't working and nobody seems to know why. Well, that's getting pretty chummy, all right. How many times you stir your tea is something anybody should be allowed to keep to himself. But it looks as though nothing but a general distribution of ear muffs is going to clear up that trouble. When only six inches of wood and plaster separates you from your neighbors you're pretty well got to be pals and like it. Lower main!"

"Unfortunately," said the Elevator Man, "the same thing applies to the world at large. With the continents only a matter of hours apart, with countries crowding right into each other's laps, so to speak, the world has become a good deal like an apartment house with thin walls. We can hear each other stirring atom bombs near, and the noise disturbs us. We hear the footsteps overhead, the chairs scraping downstairs, the voices through the walls, and we get a feeling of claustrophobia mixed with ophophobia—a bad situation all round. And I doubt if ear muffs will fix it."

They were a couple, quiet and mild . . . Their only fault, she was with child . . . Apartment doors shut in their faces . . . They were refused at many places . . . Two-Session Years Bring Reform Talk

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (BUP) — Evidence that parliament will again sit twice in 1952 has increased demands for a change of the rules governing sittings of the commons and senate, and the method by which members are paid.

There is a growing feeling among members, and outside the House, that Parliament should sit continuously with periodic recesses to enable the people's representatives to visit their constituents. This is the practice now followed in Britain.

Under such a plan, it is felt that members of the commons and senate should receive an annual fee or allowance. This fee would replace the $4,000 indemnity now paid for each session, and the annual $2,000 tax-free allowance.

Members who support continuous sittings, except for recesses, argue that Parliament has developed into a year-round body. Many parliamentarians, particularly lawyers, find little time to look after their professions or businesses.

DELIBERATE DELAY? Some members charge that the second session of the 1951 parliament was deliberately prolonged to enable the house to sit for 65 days and qualify members for a second $4,000 indemnity. They say the work could have been concluded in less than 65 days, for which remuneration would have been at the rate of $25 a day.

During 1951, members received $10,000, including $4,000 for each of the two sessions, and the $2,000 allowance. Senators received a similar sum, but both their indemnity and allowance are subject to income tax.

Each member of the cabinet drew $22,000, including a $10,000 salary, a $2,000 car allowance, a $2,000 special allowance and $8,000 in indemnities. The 12 parliamentary assistants received a total of $14,000, made up of the $10,000 they get as members and an additional $4,000 salary.

Baltimoreans Back On Wheels Again

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28 (AP). —

An 18-day-long transit strike was officially over today and buses, streetcars and trolleys were to start rolling again Tuesday morning.

The walkout that had hobbled, but not crippled, the city since Jan. 10, ended Sunday night when 3,200 striking drivers voted 2,461 to 100 to accept a three-year contract giving them a total wage increase of 21 cents an hour, plus other benefits.

Negotiators for the union—the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees (A.F.L.)—and the Baltimore Transit Co. reached agreement early Sunday.

Their 10-hour session came after an ultimatum by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin to reach accord by noon Sunday or he would call a special session of the state legislature to meet the emergency.

Company representatives planned to go before the public service commission today to ask for two-cent transfer charges and elimination of slack-hour bargain rates. Company officials indicated this request would be followed by another to "adjust the entire fare system."

Prior to final agreement, the company had conditioned all of its offers on P.S.C. approval of higher rates, a condition the union refused to accept.

Present fares are 15 cents within the city.

The contract provides a nine-cent hourly wage increase with resumption of work, raising the base pay to $1.72.

Next Thursday the Royal couple takes off for Kenya to spend a week there before going on by ship for a city-by-city tour of Australia and New Zealand.

'INFANTRYMAN'S INFANTRYMAN'

Time Magazine Takes Front-Line Look At Victoria's Brigadier Rockingham

Time Magazine takes a close look at Brig. J. R. "Rocky" Rockingham in its Jan. 28 issue and says of the commander of Canada's 25th Brigade in Korea: "The brigadier is an infantryman's infantryman."

Describing how the 25th Brigade has been in the line since Sept. 4 — "longer without rest than any other major formation in Canadian army history," Time says: "It's morale ranks with the best in Korea."

"One reason is the fact that all its men are volunteers. Another is 'Rocky' Rockingham's sure knowledge of how to make his men fight."

This "sure knowledge," says Time, includes the brigadier's personal touch with his men such as the incident in which, during a tour of his battalions, he stopped beside a young machine-gunner and asked: "How are you making out?"

The gunner told Rockingham he would prefer to shift his gun position a few yards farther up a hill.

"Why?" asked "Rocky." "Well, sir, from up there, I would have a better chance to kill more of them if they come in, sir."

SATISFACTORY ANSWER

Replied the brigadier: "Son, if that's the way you feel about it, you just move your gun right up there and I won't worry about this flank any more."

Seattle Skier Dies In Mishap

SEATTLE, Jan. 28 (AP).—A Seattle skier, hurtling onto the landing slope after a 160-foot leap, was killed Sunday when he smashed into another jumper. He was Bill Gunderson, 35, of Seattle, a native of Norway.

The other jumper, Jack Brewer, 28, of Seattle, was critically injured. Witnesses said Gunderson, making a warm-up jump for the Seattle Ski Club's annual meet at nearby Beaver Lake, struck Brewer a split second before landing on the slope.

The ski patrol said Brewer was crouched on the narrow landing lane, packing snow churned by the previous jumper.

BRIG. J. R. ROCKINGHAM

Time describes Rockingham's "rare knack for effective discipline" and his attitude about Canadian troops being taken prisoner by the enemy.

"If a unit loses a man as prisoner, they've just got to go and get him and get him back. We don't count on losing men as prisoners," he says.

Time notes the brigade's attitude toward Rocky is "generally enthusiastic; when there has been friction, he has shrewdly greased the gears."

When enemy shells bear near a position Rockingham's troops occupy, he is immediately on the radio or field phone demanding to know where the shells are hitting and how heavily.

His unvarying comment: "Well, give it back to them. Show them you don't like it."

Says the news magazine: "His commanders know his ways so well that the order is seldom necessary."

An educational program on the needs and the achievements of blind people will feature National White Cane Week to be observed by Victoria's sightless on Feb. 10 to 16.

Children will also be cautioned by Miss Stark not to leave toys lying about on the sidewalks for the blind to stumble over.

The churches will observe White Cane Week. Ministers will tell their congregations of the work being done by the blind and the activities organized by and for them in this city.

Miss Stark said this year is an important one for Victoria's sightless. A new workshop and centre where they can meet for work and recreation will be open some time in March.

"Cost of inexperience is high

... the administration of Estates is not a one-man job but one which requires the day-to-day attention of a full-time, experienced Executor"

Mr. R. A. Laidlaw, President and Chairman of the Board, presided at the fifty-fourth annual meeting of National Trust Company. He welcomed Mr. S. M. Wedd, President of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. Argue-Martin, K.C., of Hamilton, and Mr. Balmer Neilly, President of McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Limited, appointed directors since the last annual meeting. After presenting the Annual Statement, he asked Mr. J. G. Hungerford, Executive Vice-President, to address the meeting. Mr. Hungerford said in part:

Despite higher taxes and a substantial increase in operating expenses, the results of the year's operations have been very satisfactory. Gratifying progress has been made in all departments of the Company's business and total volume of business has reached a new high.

The Province of Alberta, because of its oil, gas, agriculture and new industry, has assumed a place in the Canadian economy so important that your Directors felt it advisable to open a new office in the fast-growing and progressive city of Calgary. We now have two offices in Alberta, our office at Edmonton being established in 1902.

After careful consideration, your Directors have decided to approve the funding of a pension plan on an actuarial basis so that employees of our Company retiring after January, 1952, will be entitled to pensions based on average salary and length of service.

Requirements of an Executor

Trust Companies have come to be recognized as an essential part of the Canadian economic scene and, as such, play a very important role in the life of the community. With the increasing tempo of modern life and the greater complexity of almost every aspect of business, it has become more and more difficult for individuals to deal with the exacting problems of trusteeship.

Expert knowledge of investments, income taxes, succession duties, accounting, and the many other aspects of trusteeship are seldom combined in one person. An intimate working knowledge of all these is necessary for the successful administration of any estate or trust. We are professional trustees, and, as such, our organization consists of what might be termed an aggregation of specialists in every phase of trusteeship. It is in this combination of skills along specialized lines, all working towards a common goal—the successful administration of estates and trusts—that the real strength of the professional executor and trustee lies.

More and more people are coming to realize that the administration of estates is not a one-man job but one which requires the day to day attention of a full-time experienced executor completely equipped to deal with all phases of estate administration. The cost of inexperience is high; it can quite easily exceed the fees of an experienced corporate trustee.

Evidence of Public Confidence

I am pleased to again be able to report an increase in the number of new appointments received by the Company as executor and trustee. This is the strongest possible evidence of public confidence and an assurance to the shareholders of the Company's future.

We have always stressed the need for the most careful thought in planning the distribution of an estate. With higher taxation and the rising cost of living, it is more important than ever for people to see that the dollars they leave will stretch as far as possible for the benefit of their families and dependents. This really requires consideration by someone who is familiar with the manner in which

Trust Company Profits Low

Corporation taxes feed inflation where a company is able to add all or part of the tax into the selling price of its product, and they place a heavy and unfair burden on a company such as ours.

Canadian trust companies have never made a great deal of money, as an examination of their earnings and dividend records will show. For the responsibility assumed and the amount of work and skill required the reward is very small. By far the largest source of our income is from executor's fees set by the courts; which have not been increased in the past thirty years.

Our financial statement shows total assets under administration of $410,360,173 and net profits for our shareholders of $419,791. Taking into consideration our income from other sources, this means that our profit on the administration of estates and trusts was considerably less than $1.00 on every $1000 of assets entrusted to our care.

I do not know whether it is generally realized that a company must now earn three and one-half times as much to pay, in terms of purchasing power, the same dividend it did prior to World War II. The way it works out is this:

	Profits	Corporation Tax	Net Available for Dividends
1935-39	$1.20	$.20	$1.00
1952	4.21	2.30	1.91

$1.91 is the present value of the 1935-39 dollar based on the cost-of-living index.

Taxing authorities should give sympathetic consideration to companies which by the nature of their business are unable to expand earnings rapidly.

Example of Sound Judgment

You might be interested in a case which shows the judgment and care required in the administration of an estate. A man died over ten years ago, appointing us sole executor. His estate consisted almost entirely of interests in companies in allied lines of business. Over the years, repeated offers to buy these interests were rejected by us as not reflecting their intrinsic worth and future possibilities. The companies prospered, and a short time ago we disposed of the estate holdings at more than six times their value at the time of the testator's death. What a tragedy it would have been for the beneficiaries if we had taken the easy course—to sell quickly and re-invest in "riskless" securities.

Most Canadians "Capitalists"

Taxes and inflation affect all Canadians because they threaten everybody's savings or ability to save. This should be of particular concern to the five million owners of life insurance policies, the eight million owners of bank accounts, the one million members of pension funds, and the countless Canadians who hold investments in their own right; because in these various ways the vast majority of Canadians are "capitalists." It should never be forgotten that all capital results from savings.

Our system of free enterprise revolves around profits. Profits, or the chance of profits, are the spark-plug of the system. Canada and the United States, operating under this system, and with only seven per cent. of the world population, produce over one-third of the world's goods. That is why these two countries have the highest standards of living the world has ever seen.

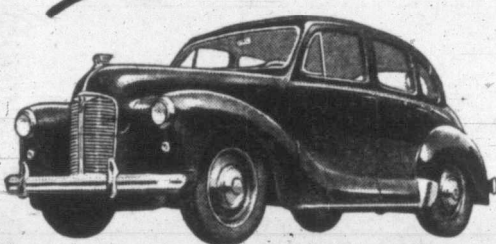

The spark of incentive must be kept alive in Canada if we are to realize our rich inheritance.

Allies Have Taken Terrific Toll Despite Korean Provisional Truce

SEOUL, Korea, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Korean war is still a deadly struggle despite the restraint displayed by both sides since the truce negotiators fixed a "provisional" cease-fire line two months ago Sunday.

U.S. Eighth Army headquarters estimates that 40,000 Chinese and North Korean soldiers have been killed, wounded or captured since the "twilight war" period began Nov. 28.

United Nations' casualties for the period were classified as secret.

The battle line today is almost identical to the one placed on the map at Panmunjom two months ago.

Day after day, Allied airmen have fought with the Communists' jets. Seventy-one MiGs and 11 Red propeller-type planes have been shot down.

Navy, marine and air force planes are credited with having hit more than 6,000 Red trucks and supply vehicles in the two months; wrecked 667 railway cars and 122 locomotives, exploded six ammunition dumps.

and killed more than 2,300 Red troops.

The far east air forces list plane losses during the two months as 77, of which 63 were shot down by enemy ground fire.

Navy surface vessels also daily have bombarded the Red-held coasts.

Despite the constant attacks on Red supply lines and rear areas, the Communists have been slowly building up their strength at the front.

Most Allied ground activity has been confined to patrols and occasional raids. The Communists, however, has at times thrown a battalion or two (possibly 800 to 1,300 men) into an assault for some spot of ground they especially wanted.

Iron Curtain Countries Question Canadians

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—The R.C.M.P. said Saturday some Canadian industrial concerns are receiving information-seeking letters from Iron-Curtain areas which "could or could not be suspicious."

A spokesman said that while the R.C.M.P. does not keep a direct check on foreign mail it does know that Canadian firms have been receiving such letters, but that many of them are from foreign companies asking for legitimate technical information. Some letters could be suspicious and the R.C.M.P. advises the recipients to "play it safe" and not send information to anyone they are not sure of.

The letters generally come from east and west Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia. None is from Russia itself.

The Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association bulletin in its current issue reported that a Quebec public utility had received a request from Germany for details of two of its vital power installations.

"I thank you, too, for the glimpse you have given me of the greatness of this nation and the even greater future which is within its grasp. I have seen this future in the eyes of hundreds of thousands of your children..."

Princess Elizabeth in her farewell speech to Canadians, St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 11, 1951.

What will his eyes see?

Oil—Production of crude oil in Canada in 1951 was 48,917,000 barrels—up 37% in two years and 65% higher than 1935.

Big things are happening in Canada today

ALUMINUM—Canada is the world's second largest producer of aluminum. The half-billion dollar expansion programme now under way will double an aluminum capacity, making it approximately a million tons a year.

STEEL—Canada produced 2,284,000 tons of steel ingots and castings in 1950. Production will be increased about one-third by the early part of 1952.

IRON ORE—Iron ore deposits discovered in Labrador have estimated reserves of 350 million tons of high grade ore. Development work has begun.

POPULATION—Canada's population has increased 32.7% in two years. It was 13,913,000 according to the 1951 census.

MANUFACTURING—Over a thousand new manufacturing plants were opened in Canada between 1946 and 1950. Industrially Canada is one of the world's fastest growing countries.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT—Canada now has over 17½ million developed hydro electric horsepower. This is less than 25% of known resources. Installations now being built or planned will provide a further 2½ million horsepower.

His eyes, so far, have seen little more than his mother's face. Soon they will see further... his home, his school, his town, his province, his country—the Canada that one day will be his.

From year to year, The Royal Bank of Canada's Annual Financial Statement is a measure of Canada's vitality and growth. The figures are cold, as figures must be, but the story they tell is an exciting story, for you and for your children.

Total assets of the Royal Bank have now passed the $2.5 billion mark, a figure never before reached in Canadian banking history. Total deposits exceed $2.3 billion, another Canadian record. Interest bearing deposits of nearly $1,124,000,000—the highest point ever reached by the bank—are an indication of the thrift of Canada's citizens. Loans to Canadian farmers, fishermen, to manufacturers, to firms large and small, and to individuals exceed $600,000,000.

These impressive figures are more than an index of the Royal Bank's record of accomplishment; they are a clear indication of Canada's economic health, and the scale of opportunity that is ours.

Few See Vids Lose To G-Men

Saturday night was a continuation of the same old story for the Victoria individuals in their attempt to revive senior basketball in Victoria.

The fans continue to avoid the Vic High gym Saturdays as if it was a leper colony and the Viduals continue to improve with every outing, giving the impression that Albert and Vapcouer are due for a rude surprise come B.C. playoff time.

Saturday's encounter was with the original Bellingham G-Men and had it not been for a bad first quarter, individuals could have hung the G-Men on the rack.

But as it was, G-Men rang up an 18-7 lead in the first frame and although outscored and outplayed in the second and third quarters, downed the local team 54-41. G-Men's record over the past three years now reads 54 wins and seven losses.

Latest addition to the individual roster, Ralph Baxter, saw only three or four minutes of the game, but in that time he potted a cute pivot shot and a long one-hander from the far corner and copped rebounds with assurance and instinct of a retriever.

BIG LEAD

The G-Men wasted no time piling up a lead as they scored with their first four shots, Jack Hubbard opening the game with a lay-up, Bill Garrison hitting on a long two-hander and Ray Scott counting with a foul shot and a hook shot for a fast seven points.

At the end of the first quarter, Viduals were on the small end of an 18-7 score. Then a change came.

Viduals began getting rebounds under both baskets and checking with fury. Had their shooting been on they could have taken the lead as they held the G-Men to only one field goal until three minutes from the end of the quarter.

NARROW GAP

With 30 seconds left in the half, Johnny Fields sank a pair of free throws to narrow G-Men's lead to 26-22, but Roy Wark canned a one-hander to make the half-time score 28-22.

Vince Clarkson and Bob Boyes notched field goals after the start of the third quarter to narrow the deficit to two points, but G-Men counted four straight baskets to restore the lead.

Fields hooked for one field goal and Elmer Curtis swished a pair of sensational one-handers to bring the Viduals closer, trailing 36-32 at the end of the third quarter.

Viduals could muster only three field goals and three free throws in the final frame while G-Men scored with seven field goals and four gift tosses.

Ray Scott, scoring mostly on driving lay-ups, was the top scorer with 18 points, followed

TAKE CITY TITLE

In preliminary games, Scott & Wright won the city junior boys' championship by whipping St. Louis College 39-12, and Scott & Peden took a one-game lead in the Intermediate A Men's finals by downing Chinese Students 47-35.

Wheelers In Double Defeat

The mileage was just too much for Vancouver Wheelers.

Wary and short-handed, the coast team suffered two losses during the week-end as it ended a tour of Western International Hockey League cities.

Wheelers were pounded 8-4 Saturday night by Nelson Maple Leafs and slaughtered, 9-0 Sunday night by Spokane Flyers.

Flyer goalie Bev Bentley got his first shutout of the season. But it was a contest that provided him with little work.

Spokane, however, was in the losing ledger Saturday. Dave McEay turned aside 30 shots as Kimberley Dynamiters won 5-3 over the Americans.

Andy Clovechok scored a hat-trick as the league-leading Kamloops Elks defeated the cellar-dwelling Penitents 7-3 in the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League.

A pair of goals by speedy Bud Andrews carried Vernon Canadians to a narrow 2-1 victory over Kelowna Packers, also in the Okanagan League.

The win gave Canadians a two-point edge over Packers in their battle for second place in the standings.

Green Heads Cadet Shoot

A.C. Doug Green, of the 89th Squadron Royal Canadian Air Cadets, carded a score of 96 at the first cadet shoot staged by the Victoria and District Cadet Rifle Association last week to win over Cpl. A. B. Paxton, of the Canadian Scottish Cadets, and A.C. L. B. Baldwin, of the R.C.A.C., who had 95's.

LOCAL BOXER WINS TROPHY

Rusty Gropp of St. Louis College brought back a prized trophy to Victoria after competing in the Emerald Gloves boxing tournament in Vancouver over the week-end.

Beaten in his only fight, Gropp, who won the Victoria Bronze Box Trophy in 1951, so impressed the mainland judges that they awarded him a trophy as the most promising prospect in the tournament.

Brian O'Hara, who accompanied Gropp, lost by a T.K.O. in his only match.

Both boys are coached by Louis Callan.

De Vincenzo Sets Mark

PANAMA, Jan. 28 (AP).—Roberto De Vincenzo, Argentine professional, Sunday won the Panama Open golf championship with a record 72-hole score of 282.

The South American finished three strokes ahead of Sammy Sneed.

Vincenzo's four-round score was a stroke under the old mark established in 1945 by amateur Johnny MacMurray, four-time champion from Panama.

Cougars Hit Rock Bottom

Loss To Rockets Puts Club Alone In Cellar

Victoria Cougars took the final step in their march from first to last place in the Pacific Coast Hockey League Saturday night at Tacoma, losing to the Rockets, 5-2.

The defeat put the Cougars in sole possession of the cellar suite, an abode they shared for a time with Calgary Stampers early last week.

However, the Stampers upset Edmonton Flyers, 5-4, Saturday to hurdle the defending champions while sixth-place Vancouver Canucks went further ahead in the battle for the final playoff position by dumping Saskatoon Quakers on Quaker ice, 5-4.

ONCE AT TOP

In their plunge to the cellar the Cougars hit every stop along the route after starting the season in first place by whipping the Vancouver Canucks in the league opener, 8-3.

The club hung around fourth place for the first half of the season, then slumped to eighth place losing 11 of 13 games, tying one against New Westminster here Friday and beating Edmonton Flyers, for their lone victory since Dec. 16.

No new developments player-wise occurred over the week-end and the club faces two highly important games this week with its back to the wall.

DOUBLE BILL

First on the list Friday is a visit by the Stampers on their final trip west.

Second comes the postponed fixture against Vancouver Canucks Saturday night at Memorial Arena.

As it is almost certain that the final playoff spot will hinge on the respective successes or failures of the Cougars, Stampers and Canucks, these games take on added significance.

Cougars have six games in hand over the Canucks and one over Calgary.

In their Saturday action New Westminster Royals went five points ahead of the field with a 4-2 victory over Seattle Ironmen, the Royals' 11th straight game without defeat, equalling a league record shared by themselves and the Cougars.

On Sunday night Muzz Patrick's rollicking Rockets from Tacoma strengthened their hold on third place by coming from behind with two goals in the final minutes at Seattle to tie the Ironmen, 4-4.

Esquimalt Boxers Dominate Card

The Northern Silver Gloves were held in Chemainus over the week-end and three bouts featuring Victoria boxers were booked as special events.

Bert Wilkinson of Esquimalt got the nod over Police Club's Ronnie Joe in the 150-pound flistic bout, while in the 120-pound class, Esquimalt's Doug Cameron defeated Pat Gregson.

In the 112-pound class, Esquimalt's Terry Hallam defeated Allan Curtis of Police Club.

SOCCER CLASSES RESUME TUESDAY

Conditioning and fundamentals will be key topics on the curriculum Tuesday night as Victoria's soccer school holds its second class in the City Defense Office at 7.30.

Head instructor George Kulai will expound on the value of keeping the lungs and legs in top shape and impart hints as to how players can avoid fatigue. He will also give a short resume of the first class.

Assistant instructor Ed Bali has as his topic, the defenses that constitute penalties, the difference between a direct and an indirect free kick and positional play on a free kick.

Macs Carry Handy Lead

McMorrans will carry a seven-point lead tonight when they meet Mt. Tormie Merchants in the second game of a two-game total-point series for the intermediate B. boys' championship of the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League at Lake Hill Community Hall. Game time is 8.30.

In a preliminary fixture, at 7.30, Forresters will meet Brentwood in the final of a two-game series for the intermediate B girls' title.

Popham Named To Boxla Body

Victoria will no longer be the outside member of the Intercity Lacrosse League. This year, unlike last, the Shamrocks will have a voice in the business of the league.

The voice will be that of Ed Popham Sr., who was elected commissioner to the league at the annual meeting in Vancouver Friday. Popham and George Weinborn of Vancouver, succeeded Lyle Barr and Jack Barker.

Les Gilmore was elected chairman for his third term. Tom Gordon, Ted Ross and Dr. Frank Kenny were re-elected as secretary, vice-chairman and commissioner respectively.

The same five teams, Victoria, North Shore, Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo will play an 80-game schedule with each club having 16 games at home and a like number on the road. The league opens May 6 with Victoria playing North Shore at Kerrisdale Arena.

In an effort to curb what he called "bungling" on the part of the Canadian Lacrosse Association in last year's Mann Cup finals, Carl Grauer, president of the Vancouver Combines suggested that the Ontario Senior Lacrosse Association and the I.C.L. secede from the C.L.A. and conduct their own Mann Cup affairs.

While no direct action was taken at Friday's meeting, the resolution was tabled and Ontario will be approached before the next meeting.

Kiser Unable To Return As Tremaine Keeps Title

As was probably expected, Andy Tremaine, wrestling's light-heavyweight champion of the world, retained his title in a return match against Jack Kiser at the Armories Saturday night, but this time he had to work for it.

Kiser, before getting the old heave-ho, definitely put up a good fight, and earned his percentage of the evening's take.

The largest crowd of the season saw Kiser dip into Tremaine's bag of tricks and come up with the first fall, using a full cradle hold.

In the second round, the challenger came out of his corner with the anxiety of a tot reaching for a lollipop, but he could not get the wrapper off.

Twice, he had Tremaine in his clutches with the full cradle, but couldn't hold him. Then the roof caved in.

Tremaine grabbed Kiser's leg and started jumping up and down on it, and after the smoke had cleared away the challenger was flaked out on the canvas with an injured groin.

Kiser was unable to come out for the third round and the match was awarded to the title-holder.

BATTLE ROYAL

Undoubtedly the roughest fight of the evening was between Australian badman Con Bruno and Montrealer Ted Evans. Evans came out on the losing end of a rather disputable match.

Evans, who proved tricky in spots, took the first fall from the villainous, fist-wielding Bruno using a series of flying mares.

German Actors Make Presence Felt In Picture Industry

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28 (AP).—Movie fans can expect to see more German actors on the screen and more films about Germany.

German actors and film subjects have been seen in such 20th-Fox movies as "The Big Lift," "The Desert Fox" and "Decision Before Dawn." The studio now is planning "The Steeper Cliff" to be made in Germany with Oskar Werner. M.G.M. will star Gene Kelly in "The Devil Makes Three," a story of black marketing on the Autobahn.

More studios are expected to follow suit. The reasons go deeper than the search for new and exciting locales and actors. The fact is that the German film market is becoming increasingly profitable. One producer estimates that a top picture will be able to take $1,000,000 out of Germany.

INDUSTRY HITS BACK

One of the most significant film industry moves in recent months: The $1,000,000 libel suit filed by Stanley Kramer against the organization which has been picketing his picture "Death of a Salesman." The pickets alleged Communist connections of the film's makers.

This marks the first time that a member of the industry has made a frontal attack on those who sought to boycott a picture. The important factor is that the entire industry is behind Kramer in his battle. Frank Freeman, speaking for the major producers, offered "complete support." So have independent producers.

Fanny Ward Still Young Dies At 79

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP).—Actress Fanny Ward, the "Fountain of Youth" girl who reached old age still looking like a flapper, died Sunday. She was at least 79.

Time ran out on the "eternal soubrette" at Lenox Hill Hospital, where she had been in a coma for a week. Doctors said she suffered a stroke.

The fabulous flapper, who made a glamorous career of seeking the Fountain of Youth, admitted to being 79 years old. But a close friend said she was 83.

Her efforts to stay young made her an international celebrity for more than half a century.

To a friend she once confided: "One of the best ways to keep youth is to keep out of ruts."

Trim and pretty, she attributed her youthful appearance to a secret facial treatment learned from a French stage star, Gaby Deslys.

The eternal flapper began her stage career in 1890, and played more than 50 roles in plays and many more in vaudeville. She also appeared in several motion pictures.

When she was nearly 40, she successfully played the role of a 14-year-old girl in "Betty to the Rescue."

In recent years Miss Ward lived alone in a Park Avenue apartment. Miss Fayette Perry, a friend, found her unconscious there last Monday. Apparently she had been in a coma since the day before.

She was twice married, first to Joe Lewis, a South African millionaire whom she divorced. Her second marriage was to Jack Dean, a leading man in some of her stage plays, who died in 1950.

At the height of her career Miss Ward was a familiar figure in London and Paris, and was a close friend of English nobility.

Her only daughter, Lady Plunket, was a lady-in-waiting to Queen Mary. Her husband was Lord Terence Conyngham Plunket. They were killed in a California plane crash in 1938.

Chinese Feast Round-The-World At Start Of 4649th New Year

By HUMPHRY DAVY

The Year of the Dragon has begun for Victoria Chinese.

They celebrated on Sunday, first day of the year 4649 or 2503 A.C. (after Confucius), in accordance with the Chinese lunar calendar.

The New Year's Day celebrations generally took the form of banquets, dinners and family gatherings. In lantern-decked homes, children received from the old folks "lucky coins" wrapped in red paper, played games, danced and set off fire-crackers.

The dinners included specially prepared dishes which included fat choy, a seafood soup. The feasting lasted anywhere between one and three hours.

The younger Chinese Canadians observe the day as a matter of form, as they follow the Gregorian calendar. But for the older residents still steeped in tradition, the Chinese New Year is a special event which they believe may effect the course of their lives.

For instance, they wore new pairs of shoes on Sunday so that they would continue to have good luck and prosperity.

They also paid their debts. A Chinese who fails to pay his bills before the New Year's first day ends, loses face with his people.

In China it is a much bigger event. The celebrations may last over four days. But the old-time prodigality, the feasting and fireworks, are no more.

Local Chinese hope the New Year will bring peace to a homeland under the Communist yoke.

At the same time, Chinese residents sent a plea to the Canadian government to permit 400 children in Hong Kong to join their families in Canada.

Foon Sien, president of the Chinese Benevolent Association in Vancouver, said his people were beginning the Year of the Dragon with a drive to get children of naturalized Chinese out of the reach of Chinese Communists.

New Pat Bay Highway Promised By Autumn

Crews Only Wait For Weather To Finish Contract

The Victoria-Patricia Bay highway will be a first-class road by fall, it was promised today by provincial officials.

A public works department spokesman explained today that as soon as favorable weather arrives crews will be sent out to complete the job of widening, straightening, and generally improving the artery to the airport.

The spring and summer program calls for building of four miles of completely new road along the old C.N.R. grade leading into Sidney, and paving the whole of the highway right from the city limits to the airport.

Contract for building the new section of road has been awarded the firm of Dawson, Wade and Co. Ltd.

"As the new construction will be some distance from the existing highway it will not interfere with traffic," Jones pointed out.

This work will be started in the spring. Heavy machinery will be used to pack the new road down so that it will be ready for paving at the end of the summer, he said.

New road made last summer along the highway was left this winter to be packed down by traffic using the road.

"A lot depends on the weather," Jones declared. "But if weather is favorable we should have the job finished and the new road ready by fall."

LOCKJAW VICTIM LACKING ANY INSURANCE COVERAGE

George Raines, 23, Nanaimo lockjaw victim, will likely have to pay an estimated $2,400 charge for anti-tetanus serum himself.

"As far as I know this man has not paid a hospital insurance premium since 1949, and is therefore not covered by the B.C.H.I.S.," Health Minister A. D. Turnbull said today.

"Under the circumstances the hospital insurance service will not pay any part of his hospital expenses," the minister said.

Even if he had been covered, Turnbull added, this special circumstance would have required review by the B.C.H.I.S. Raines was stricken a week ago, and was saved with 3,000 units of serum flown from Vancouver and Toronto.

To help pay the serum cost and other heavy hospital expenses, Cedar district neighbors have formed a committee to canvass the district for donations.

Pair Captured In Wild Chase

Screaming Police Siren Wakes Saanich As Young Soldiers Flee In Stolen Car

The roar of racing car engines and the shrill voice of police pursuit at 80 miles an hour startled Saanich residents Saturday night.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Many residents of the 742 Johnson Street cabins attended at city police court today to listen to the trial of David Henry Thomas, one of the cabin residents, charged with minor theft.

Thomas is alleged to have stolen groceries valued at under $25 from fellow resident George Mason. Case was remanded to Jan. 30 to enable police to summons Wilfred Black, Saanich municipal employee, to testify in his defense. Bail was set at $100 for Thomas by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Life and teachings of Ralph Waldo Emerson were discussed Sunday night at a public meeting of the Theosophical Society by Mrs. Grace Hughes. He exerted a tremendous influence on 19th century American thought, she said, by stating the "profoundest truths in simple language."

A six-month license suspension went with a $50 fine imposed against motorist John W. Dehen, 2084 Milton, in city police court today.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. Police claimed Dehen left 115-foot and 74-foot skid marks in making turns at high speeds and jumped a stop sign.

Downtown collection office of B.C. Hospital Insurance Service will move this week from its present location at 902 Government to smaller quarters at 904 Gordon.

The office is expected to be set up at the new location on Thursday.

Immediate steps for installation of crosswalks at the Blanshard-McClure-Collinson intersection were asked today by F. Dudley Wickett, secretary, on behalf of the Kiwanis Junior Safety Patrol Committee. He said the committee expressed "considerable anxiety over the serious situation" existing at the intersection.

Saanich police today were continuing efforts to track down the driver of a car who slammed into the rear of a Saanich fire department chief's car Saturday night. The driver did not stay at the scene. Chief's car was parked in front of No. 1 firehall on Douglas Street and was considerably damaged in the rear.

The wild chase ended in a victory for Sgt. Robert Davidson of the city police-traffic division today.

Two soldiers, who had fled in a stolen car, appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court.

Gunnery Murray A. Taylor, 23, and Clytus A. Lalonde, 21, both of Gordon Head—artillery camp, pleaded guilty to a joint charge of taking a car without the consent of owner. George "Rebel" Mowat, 1551 Burton.

SECOND THEFT

Lalonde also pleaded guilty to taking a car rented by Ben Hunt, 625 Michigan, without the owner's consent.

Sgt. Davidson was taking measurements at Friday's Hill-side-Sheilbourne fatal accident scene at about 10 Saturday night when a car came through the stop sign.

RACE UP SHEILBOURNE

The officer made chase, with siren screaming. The two occupants of the other car speeded up and they raced north on Sheilbourne.

Speeds up to 70 m.p.h. were attained "and I sounded the siren for more than three miles before I stopped the car in the Uplands district," Sgt. Davidson told the court.

It was subsequently learned by the officer that Lalonde was responsible for taking the rented car earlier in the evening—from where it was parked almost opposite the police station flagpole.

It was found abandoned and about $300 worth of damage done to it on the E. & N. tracks off Store Street. The car catapulted from a ramp.

Both soldiers were remanded to Tuesday for sentence.

U.B.C.M. Doubles Membership Fees; City Pays $450

Union of B.C. Municipalities has doubled its annual membership fees owing to increased costs and expenditures, Victoria was advised today.

R. R. F. Sewell, U.B.C.M. secretary, wrote that Victoria's fee for 1952 was $450, compared with last year's $225.

A special convention of the U.B.C.M. will be held at Vancouver City Hall, Feb. 12 at 10 in the morning to consider the education costs report of W. E. Hobbs.

Hobbs recommended at an executive meeting that a resolution be sent to the provincial government requesting re-financing of education costs on an 80-20 sharing basis.

Return to Victoria of Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith has been delayed a few days, it was learned from his office at the Parliament Buildings today.

ACTION ON MUSIC USE INSTITUTED

Damages Of $500 Sought From Cafe

Action for damages of $500 for copyright infringement have been started in Exchequer Court against the operators of a Colwood restaurant.

Plaintiff in the action is Composers, Authors and Publishers' Association of Canada, which alleges that several copyright music selections were performed without permission, says Ronald Harding, Vancouver representative of the association.

The association is a non-profit organization formed by the writers and publishers of music to collect fees when their copyright music is performed in public places. These fees are fixed each year by a board appointed by the federal government and are published in the Canada Gazette.

"Numerous communications were addressed to the operators (of the restaurant involved here) warning them that action would be taken unless they either secured a license from the copyright owners or refrained from committing further infringements," says Harding.

"These requests were ignored and the association had no alternative but to commence legal proceedings."

Francis Ferguson, 10, of Sexton Academy, Vancouver, was treated at Jubilee Hospital Saturday night for injuries received in a traffic accident.

Police said he was a passenger with his mother, Mrs. Florence Ferguson, in a car driven by Joseph R. L. Rilon, 846 Courtney, which crashed into a telephone pole at Langford and Catherine. The boy suffered cuts to the face and head.

Minstrel Steps From Past To Charm Modern Audience

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

A fair-haired young man with a mellow speaking voice and a Spanish guitar arrived in town late Sunday night. He is the 20th century edition of the wandering minstrels of the antique past.

Richard Dyer-Bennett's lyric tenor, his unique art which roused packed Carnegie Hall to rare heights of enthusiasm, will be presented tonight at the Royal Theatre. His program will be predominantly folk song but it holds some surprises for those who thought of him as simply a singer.

Dyer-Bennett is interested in any song literature that can be done with guitar accompaniment. For instance, tonight's program will include the famous tenor aria from the second act of "The Barber of Seville," for which Rossini wrote a guitar accompaniment.

In his second group, art songs from the 16th century and on, the singer is doing a Schubert and a Martin number.

"I am not a folk-singer," says Dyer-Bennett; "I am only interested in folk songs which are inherently good music. I explore any repertoire I can perform with my two instruments—voice and guitar."

As a college student, majoring in English, the English-born, Canadian and American-bred young man, first was urged to seek out Sven Scholander, the great Swedish minstrel in his retirement near Stockholm.

When Scholander sang for him, he received the greatest experience of his life. It was a quavery old voice, but the art and the guitar technique were incomparable.

From that moment, Richard Dyer-Bennett followed a star. He changed from the steel-strung Swedish lute to the more mellow, old and eight-pounders, and George Syrotuck, with one a 12-pounder. Dick Clapham, 13, Victoria, got best fish Saturday—13 lb. 5 oz.

A small town, Stockbridge, Massachusetts, is home to Dyer-Bennett now. There, in the shadow of the Berkshires hills, he lives with his wife and family. I commented that he was close to the great summer centre of musical activity.

"Yes," he agreed. "Tanglewood is close by. But I'm more interested in tennis than music in the summer." Incidentally, he might have been a tennis or soccer star if he had not turned to minstrelsy.

Irrigated Farm Lands Available To Veterans

Provincial and federal authorities are co-operating in the development of a tract of bench land near Penticton which will be made available to veterans interested in farming.

Lands Minister E. T. Kenney gave word of the development today. He explained engineering surveys of the land had been made and that actual work would be started shortly to provide roads and a water supply for both domestic and sprinkler irrigation.

The contemplated development will provide approximately 90 small holding units which will be made available for sale under provision of the Veterans' Land Act.

Co-operating in the project is the provincial government, the federal department of agriculture, through its Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act Administration, and the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Stereomen's Vote On Salary Offer Known On Tuesday

Decision by members of Local 88, International Stereotypers and Electrotypers' Union, as to whether to accept or reject a 32-cent hourly wage increase recommended by a majority board report, should be known Tuesday.

Victoria stereotypers, employed by Victoria Press Ltd., who are the ones directly affected, have already voted on the offer. Vancouver members of the local are scheduled to vote tonight.

The company has indicated its willingness to accept the majority report.

The union, throughout conciliation board hearings, maintained it could not accept any scale in Victoria which would be lower than that paid in Vancouver. The union asked for a 37-cent hourly increase to bring the hourly rate to $2.25.

If the union as a whole decides to reject the majority award, it will apply to the Labor Relations Board for a government-supervised strike vote. Only Victoria stereotypers would participate in that vote.

FORGET OATHS OF OFFICE ELECTED MEN LOSE POSTS

At least three elected officials in B.C. have lost the posts for which they were elected by failing to make the required "declaration of office."

B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipal affairs, explained this unusual oversight today. "Within 30 days of election the candidate must make his declaration of office," he said. "Those elected by vote had enough time, but those elected by acclamation could just 'squeeze under the wire' by being sworn at the statutory meetings Jan. 7."

He suspects more than three are in this position. "They are out, the election is null and void, and the seats are vacant," he said. "If they are not prepared to take the oath of office within the prescribed time, then they should not run. If the council continues to let such a candidate serve, then it is liable."

BANKS PLAN FACILITIES FOR DEPOSIT

Saturday Closing Makes Necessary Altered System

By BURKE CAHILL

Times Business Editor Facilities to replace Saturday morning banking—possibly night deposit chute—will be provided by Victoria banks, it was learned here today.

Starting Feb. 16 banks will remain closed Saturday. The overnight deposit system has worked successfully for years in the United States.

Chief reason for the closing, under consideration by the Canadian Bankers' Association for more than a year, is the shortage of female help. In order to compete in the labor market, for girl office workers, the banks had to offer working conditions equal to those of other business. Banks have indicated their solution to the new scheme, and have only details of the adjustment yet to make.

Reeve Worries Over Garbage Disposal Plan

Oak Bay's Reeve P. A. Gibbs said today he would like to know what happened to the proposal that a new garbage disposal system be set up for the four municipalities of Greater Victoria.

The proposal which provides for the disposal of garbage by an incinerator plant was suggested early last year and was discussed by the four municipalities. The matter was left in abeyance until Victoria made a report on the project.

"I would like to know what Victoria thinks about the plan," said the reeve. "I think we should put a step to disposal of our garbage in the sea. It pollutes our beaches."

The reeve said he understood that the incinerator plant would be cheaper to operate than the present method of garbage disposal.

He added that at the rate Greater Victoria was growing it was important for the area to have an efficient garbage disposal system.

Workers' Exchange Will Aid Defense

Immigration arrangements have been completed to allow the exchange of Canadian and United States civil defense workers for training and emergency purposes.

Co-ordinator Leonard Hatcher said today the move will allow nationals from each country to cross the border without delay or red tape should civil defense needs call for inter-exchange programs.

Hardy Island Fishermen (And Boys) Get Great Sport From Winter Steelhead In First Stage Of Four-Day Contest

At daylight Saturday, Cowichan River's steelhead derby drew experts with rod and reel from far and wide. It was the first stage of a contest which closes with a second two-days of fishing on Feb. 16 and 17. The anglers were out on Sunday, too, and some excellent catches were reported, up to 14 and 15 pounds. Nearly 100 watched from the bridge, pictured here, at one stage.

These four had fine outing. Left to right: A. Atkinson, president, Cowichan Fish and Game Club; Fisheries Inspector Archie Sherman; Ronnie Gammie, Duncan, with seven and eight-pounders, and George Syrotuck, with one a 12-pounder. Dick Clapham, 13, Victoria, got best fish Saturday—13 lb. 5 oz.

Best fish of meet so far was taken Sunday by Henry James, Duncan, seen with two fish, the 15-pounder-plus, included; and his 11th of the year. A. O. Evans of Duncan, centre, also took a pair, one of them running to 11 pounds. Jack Neen, 14, right, had a lot of fun and didn't catch a fish. But he's still trying for a prize in the mid-February meet. (Island Events Photos, by Alec Merriman)

SHOPPING GUIDE

Brother And Sister Sets Have Continental Touch

By PENNY SAVER

It's the first! Yes, the first brother and sister set has arrived in town, and you'll love it.

It has a continental touch. The set is a French sailor suit for a boy, with long trousers, and the same top for a girl, with a full skirt. The trousers and skirt are in dark blue and the top is striped with solid toned collar and cuffs.

Mercerized, sanforized broadcloth has been used for the original sets, which are $2.98 each.

A T-shirt is no longer just a T-shirt. It has become the basis of elaborate tops that are a cross between a blouse and a sweater. There was a time when you bought a solid color T-shirt and that was that. It was always styled the same way and the variety of colors seldom changed.

Today it is different. One display showed a pale blue T-shirt trimmed with a navy blue band that formed a yoke that extended into the sleeve. This was priced at $1.98.

Another was a combination shirt and pullover. Dark brown created a sleeveless pullover effect and a contrasting green shade was similar to a shirt that you would wear underneath. Naturally, it was all in one piece. This was tagged at $2.29.

It's A Sale!

Amazing—but true! No doubt you bought warm winter gloves for your boy at the beginning of the season and there is a good chance that when he started scraping the snow together to make snowballs he did considerable damage to his gloves.

If that is the case and you need a new pair for him, you'll jump for joy when you hear about the gloves I saw on sale.

The price is $1. They are wool plaid backed with leather and have an elastic cuff, and the warm zipper jackets that are on sale for $8.95.

That should see you over the remaining cold days.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Life Runs To Extremes; Hot, Cold—Fat, Skinny

Life seems to be made up of extremes. It is either hot or cold, windy or still, dry or wet, light or dark. We are either gay or depressed, fat or lean, talkative or quiet, lazy or nervously active, young or old.

The climate seldom treats us to "perfect middle-of-the-road" weather and we must struggle constantly in order to stay the right size and achieve a well-balanced personality and the magnetic combination of wisdom and experience and continued youthfulness.

Most women find themselves either hectic or bored. We are likely to do too much or to have too few interests. The expression, "If you want something done ask a busy person to do it," is very true. The woman who is just naturally interested in a great many things and people finds herself with so many demands and obligations that she is apt to knock herself out.

On the other hand, if you are not in this position you may be lonely, frustrated and marooned. I don't know which is worse but certainly something can be done about either state if you set your mind to it. I notice this division in the mail I receive from readers. Many of them seem to be either worked to death or lonely and bored.

That is what happens when we let life manage us rather than managing it with a firm hand. If you are one of the busy ones take stock and decide just what activities are draining your pep and heckling you without heart-warming and sufficient return for energy invested. I believe you will find that there are many things you are doing because of habit and the inability to say "No," things which others could be doing and should be doing.

You may discover that you are undermining the health which makes such varied activities possible. One woman cannot do everything and should not try to. It is not fair to yourself and to those who love you.

On the other hand there is something wrong if you are lonely and bored because the old world is starved for friendliness and help. An unusual situation may have created this state for you. Perhaps you have moved to a new town or neighborhood, or maybe rearing children cut you off from others for years, or you may live in the country.

Whatever the reason, you must take definite steps to get out of that rut because boredom can probably kill and age you faster than doing too much. Become more active in your church or in philanthropic organizations. Make the first gesture of friendship to someone you know. Don't wait for her to do so. Join some study classes. Join the Y.W.C.A. Take lessons in some sport which appeals to you and which is right for your age. Dream back those things you longed to do long ago.

If you wanted to paint or write or do handicraft or learn to play the piano, take lessons and enjoy it.

You do not have to become famous in your chosen line in order to have it lift your spirit and your heart. Make gestures toward unlocking the doors of boredom. You can!

Plans were made for a St. Patrick's tea with Sister Eva McCabe as convener and for an anniversary banquet on Feb. 28. Two new members were welcomed.

Ode To The Eight-Week Marathon

A Victoria woman who recently sent for Josephine Lowman's Eight-Week Marathon, has penned the following verses to this newspaper:

"Thanks to 'Josie' for lending aid
In my attempt my figure to save,
I've started already to thump
and bump
Knocking off pounds on the bulging lump.

Things of the past are candy and cake
Taking their place is lean, lean, lean,
Ice cream—cream puff—strawberry soda.

Are items excluded in diet quota.
Pies . . . and sherbets, and fancy cheese.

Were given the boot, they got the squeeze.

Hardtack . . . water . . . and an old tomato

Are now consumed in place of potato.

Lettuce, an apple, a little clear soup

To build the morale when spirits droop.

Liquor? Oh no!!! Not one single drop

Or weight goes up, the course is a flop.

But I'm determined my figure to mould.

And for once in my life I'll do
as I'm told.

So I'll follow the book, cuz I'll want lots of vim!

And in fifty-six days, I'll be willow slim."

MODELS WEAR LEIS

Spring's Newest Styles In Hosiery On Parade

Exciting new shades of hosiery for spring, as well as dramatic new hosiery styles were shown at Hudson's Bay Company store last week-end in an informal hosiery promenade.

Colorama Red created much interest with its rich coloring concentrated at the ankle and shading off to lighter tone at the knee. Coral Sand, one of the new shades modeled is to be worn with fashion's important spring pastels. Glamorous "Pixie" was recommended for wear with mauves, blues and red shades.

The highlight of new hosiery design was shown in the toeless hosiery to be worn with heeled and toeless shoes later on. An important feature of these being that the heel knit is the same weight as the leg of the hose—no panel or double weight in order that a "barefoot" look might be achieved. It was pointed out that with less strain on the toe of the foot—the hose would wear longer too.

Permanently pleated nylons were described as having a fabulous fit—flattering ankle and leg alike.

Four Hudson's Bay Company employees modelled the hose in attractive brief costumes and wearing beautiful leis of orchids flown from Hawaii—to emphasize the delicate coloring of spring's new hosiery.

Margot Bowden Married In Bridal Gown Of White Brocaded Taffeta

St. Paul's Noyal and Garrison Church was the scene Saturday evening of a nuptial service which united in marriage, Margot Constance Bowden and Robert Alexander Rainsford. Rev. R. Roberts officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Major and Mrs. Sidney R. Bowden, Constance Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. C. A. Rainsford, Linnett Road, Elk Lake, and the late Mrs. Rainsford.

P. Hughes played organ music and the choir sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," while the bridal couple signed the register.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the attractive bride was a picture in a gown of white brocaded taffeta fashioned with strapless bodice and flared skirt slightly en train, worn with a long-sleeved jacket of matching taffeta buttoned up the front to a standup pointed collar. Her finger tip veil of illusion net was caught under a band of pleated net finished at one side with a small white plume. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses and white hyacinths to complete her ensemble.

ATTENDANTS THREE

Maid of honor was Miss Jean Ferguson who wore a rose and Miss Rosemary Noskes, bridesmaid, was in midnight blue, their taffeta frocks styled with small collars, fitted bodices, buttoned to the waist, cap sleeves worn with elbow-length mitts of white lace, and full skirts. Their bandeaux of taffeta and pleated tulle matched their dresses and they carried bouquets of blue iris and pink feathered carnations. Little Sandra Rainsford, niece of the groom, was flower girl in a long lavender organza dress with puff sleeves and gathered skirt. Pastel flowers were arranged in her hair and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink, mauve and white hyacinths. Mr. Richard Baugh-Allen attended the bridegroom, and ushers were Mr. Ken Slade of Ladysmith, and Mr. Michael Hanna.

The reception was held in the church hall where Mrs. Bowden and Miss Mary Rainsford, sister of the groom, welcomed guests with the newly-weds. The table, decorated with chrysanthemums, pussy willow and ivy streamers, was centred with the three-tier cake topped with heather and pinocchio roses and surrounded with folds of Honiton lace, which was cut with the sword of the bride's father. The toast was given by Mr. G. W. Baugh-Allen.

The couple will spend their honeymoon motoring in Washington and Oregon.

For traveling, the bride chose a light grey worsted suit with darker trim on collar and pockets, fitted grey hat with

BEDTIME STORY

Blacky the Crow is canny. Blacky was over in the Green Forest, a part of it far from the part which he calls "home." He had seen a man doing something, just what he couldn't tell from a distance, beside a place in a small brook, a place where the water ran too swiftly to freeze. As soon as the man had gone on out of sight down the brook, Blacky had flown to the place where he had first seen the man. He had looked it all over with a pair of the best eyes in the Green Forest. Almost at once he had seen a small piece of meat. It was lying beside the open water, just as if it had been dropped there. Anyway, that is how it looked to Blacky at first. Long ago, Blacky had learned to distrust all two-legged folk called human beings.

He flew up on a little stump and sat there for a long time studying the little piece of meat and its surroundings.

"That looks perfectly all right," said he. "I don't see anything wrong. If nothing is wrong, I'm missing a good breakfast, and goodness knows I need a good breakfast. Any breakfast at all would be good. I never was hungrier in my life. I've simply got to get something to eat and get it soon. If that man left that piece of meat there, what did he do it for? I wonder if he has left any more meat anywhere?"

This was a sudden thought. Blacky spread his wings and flew up above the treetops. He followed the brook, flying above it and all the time looking down. He hadn't gone a great way when he saw ahead of him the man for whom he was looking. He was stooping over, busy about something. Blacky flew to a tall tree from which he could watch. He kept his tongue still so that he would not be noticed. When the man moved on, Blacky flew over to where he had been at work. There lay another little piece of meat. Of one thing he was certain now. That man had left those little pieces of meat on the snow. Why?

AMPHIBIAN RUNS AMOK
Pilot Saved After Toss In Sea, Subdues Run-Away

SEATTLE, Jan. 28 (AP).—An amphibian airplane "soloed" today in Puget Sound and kept four Coast Guard ships busy for one and a half hours.

The plane started its solo—it was strictly a water run—by tossing its pilot into the sea and then carrying on frenziedly in tight circles around the sound.

The Coast Guard said the pilot, Howard E. Bothell of nearby Auburn, was practicing landing in the sound and hit hard on one approach. The impact threw Bothell into the water and broke one wing tip float.

The pilot was quickly rescued from the chill waters by a small boat. But the plane kept going.

Four Coast Guard craft were called to the scene. First plans were to let the plane continue its tight circles until it ran out of gas, a matter of two and a half hours.

But eventually one boat was able to land the pilot on a wing tip. He clambered aboard and ended the plane's brief flight of freedom.

Defense Schedule Off Pace

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP).—Canada's official Defense Department expenditures for this fiscal year are likely to prove over-estimated by $200,000,000 for a variety of reasons.

They include:

1. Canada, along with the United States and Britain, underestimated difficulties in making a twilight or half-way mobilization work.
2. Shortage of steel.
3. American difficulties in producing key machine tools which Canada needed.
4. Shortage of trained engineers and other key personnel.
5. The all-Canadian Orenda jet engine Canuck jet fighter program of the A. V. Roe of Canada Co. finally hit a complexity of troubles after months of excellent progress. The production schedule hasn't been met.

FIRST ESTIMATE
Parliament this year approved a Defense Department budget of $1,600,000,000 for the fiscal year that will end March 31, 1952. It now is expected that the final figure on actual expenditures will be about $1,400,000,000.

Figures issued by the Finance Department Friday showed that the Defense Department's expenditures for the first nine of the 12 months of this fiscal year amounted to $770,000,000.

Thus the department expects to spend roughly $630,000,000 in the last three months of the year.

OFFICIALS' REASONS

Officials give these reasons:

1. Traditionally an average of 23 per cent of the defense budget is spent in March and in April, cleaning up bills for the year.
2. A number of huge lump-sum items will be paid off. One example is payment of a sum running into many millions to the U.S. for support of Canadian troops in Korea. Negotiations now are going on to set a rate of so much a day for each of the roughly 8,000 Canadians there. The U.S. has been footing those bills in the meantime until enough experience accumulated to give an idea of what a fair charge would be.
3. Production of such major items as the F86 Sabre jet and new warships is well in stride and the bills are rising at a substantial pace.

The department's estimates for the fiscal year starting April 1 are expected to boom beyond a record $2,000,000,000.

WITH NAVY AMPHIBIOUS FORCES IN KOREAN WATERS, Jan. 28 (AP).—The United States navy said today approximately 20,000 Korean refugees have been evacuated to South Korea from islands off Communist-held northwest Korea. There were 130,000 more refugees still on the islands.

French-German Saar Tiff Threatens Proposed Army

BOON, Germany, Jan. 28 (AP).—The quarrel between France and Germany over the coal-rich Saar territory flared up again today and threatened new delay to plans for the creation of a European army to include German divisions.

A communique issued here today said the German government is dissatisfied with explanations given by the French foreign office as to why the French changed their high commissioner in the Saar to an ambassador.

The German government described the appointment as "surprising" and said it was doubtful in the circumstances whether the debate in the Bonn parliament on joining the European defense Communist could be held on Feb. 7 as planned.

The Germans view the change from high commissioner to ambassador as recognition of the Saar government and a step toward permanently separating the Saar territory from western Germany.

The western Allied agreement that linked the Saar economically with France laid down the rule that the territory's ultimate status would be decided in the future.

Guard Plane

W. Germany Wants Unity With N.A.T.O. For Help

PARIS, Jan. 28 (AP).—West Germany Sunday night demanded membership in the North Atlantic Treaty organization as her price for aiding western defense.

Prof. Walter Hallstein, chief German delegate to six-power European army talks now going on here, made the demand as delegates argued over a treaty to establish such a unified force within N.A.T.O.

He said Germany should be brought into N.A.T.O. immediately, or—if this were not possible—under an interim system which would protect Germany's rights.

Hallstein's demand halted the conference. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman asked a recess to study the situation.

The German diplomat conceded that immediate German membership would be a difficult political task in some countries—notably France, where fear and hatred of Germany still are strong. He offered two compromise solutions:

1. The six-member European defense community become one member of N.A.T.O. with the five present N.A.T.O. members dropping out as individual members.
2. The five states to retain individual N.A.T.O. memberships.

but all N.A.T.O. decisions affecting Europe to be subject to unanimous approval of the ministerial committee of the proposed army set-up.

Either idea would give Germany a full voice in N.A.T.O. affairs, Hallstein said. Germany would submit precise proposals on his ideas to the conference before it winds up.

B.C.'s Poisoned Bride Case Revived

NEW WESTMINSTER, Jan. 28 (CP)—The 1947 unsolved case of the poisoned bride took a new twist today when the dead bride's father was charged with shooting with intent to kill.

Two revolver bullets Sunday night lodged in the car of Jack Cooper, 30, whose 17-year-old first wife died from an overdose of drugs in March, 1947.

David Simons, 51, of Vancouver, father of the dead bride, was arrested and charged with "shooting a loaded revolver at Cooper with intent to kill." Another man with Simons was held for investigation.

Cooper, a sales executive, and his second wife, Laura, had just got into their car in front of their home Sunday night when Cooper told police, another car drove up beside them and two

Truman Wants Seaway

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress again today to authorize the St. Lawrence seaway and power project but Senator Tom Connally, a key lawmaker in the situation, gave the request a cold reception.

Connally, Texas Democrat and chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, arose in the Senate as soon as the request from Truman was read, and declared:

"I very much hope my committee will adhere to its former position of not reporting this bill. This is not the time to spend a billion dollars on something that will be frozen over five months of the year and will be built on foreign soil."

WILL CO-OPERATE
OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Canada and the United States have agreed to co-operate in preparing applications to the International Joint Commission for approval of plans to develop power in the St. Lawrence River.

This was disclosed today with the publication of an exchange of notes Jan. 11 between the two governments.

The United States government agreed to a request by the Canadian government that the appropriate officials of the two countries open a series of meetings to discuss the steps to be taken in proceeding with a reference to the joint commission.

YOUNG HOODLUMS CRIME SUSPECTS

By ROY THORSEN

Young hoodlums are believed by police to be responsible for a week-end outbreak of city burglaries and attempted break-ins.

Seven business premises were targets in the "siege." Although loot in the burglaries was small, considerable damage was done to premises.

About $3 in silver and a quantity of cigarettes were stolen from Mack's Coffee Bar, 617 Gorge.

'Intolerable' Conditions Charged By Engineer

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

Seething unrest among the 200-odd inside staff members, with a "blow-up" imminent over conditions at City Hall, was reliably reported today, when a letter of resignation from J. G. Archer, assistant city engineer, was received by city manager Cecil Wyatt.

The situation has been building up since delivery of the mayor's inaugural address, according to one source, with the threatened resignation of Water Board Commissioner Ralph Davis Friday, touching off the conflagration.

In his letter of resignation Archer stated he was resigning because "conditions were intolerable."

LITTLE TO SAY

He did not elaborate and when queried merely stated: "I have nothing against the engineer and nothing against the public works department."

The manager and Aid. Percy Scurren were instructed by the executive committee to survey the public works department with a view to obtaining greater efficiency.

They were scheduled to report to a meeting of the executive committee, headed by Mayor Claude Harrison at 4 this afternoon.

It is understood an engineer, working in the department, may be offered Archer's post, should the latter's resignation be accepted.

It is also believed that W. J. Carter, who has been acting superintendent since the death of the superintendent last May, will be put in another position, if the general reorganization is approved. He was formerly chief carpenter.

GENERAL MEETING

Today's developments included a general meeting of the public works inside staff employees, about 35. While it was not directly concerned with the changes it is understood to be a part of the general pattern of "unrest."

"This thing is leading to an unholy blow-up," said one City Hall source. "The employees don't know where they stand. Conditions are unstable."

Unions are reported to be watching developments closely in case of any contravention of working agreements.

Question of who administers City Hall policy as laid down by City Council is considered one of the chief bones of contention.

Wyatt, under Clause 9 of the Municipal Manager's By-law is responsible for carrying out or directing collective bargaining with all city employees, other than the police and to recommend to council agreements concerning wages, salaries and working conditions.

The clause continues: "And upon approval to administer such agreements and in general to be responsible for wage and salary administration subject to normal grievance procedures."

CLAUSE CLASHES

Some City Hall sources cannot reconcile that clause with duties of the executive committee as outlined by the mayor in his inaugural address. Included in the duties are "civil service, civic management and salaries and wages."

The mayor's statements in his inaugural address, to the effect that he had his doubts as to the value of a city manager but that the system must be given a trial, are said to have contributed to the present situation.

Davis, commissioner for the Greater Victoria Water Board, said he would resign at a stormy meeting Friday, when on motion of the mayor, the board cut his salary by $900 a year and the use of a car valued by the board at $600 a year.

His resignation depends on outcome of a special study on his salary, by Reeve P. A. Gibbs, Reeve Joe Casey and Mayor Harrison.

Archer, who has been with the city for the past three years, came to Victoria from the Fraser Valley Dyking Board. He was superintendent of the Upper Reaches. He came to Canada from Scotland after the war.

Vancouver Stocks

Final session of trading at Vancouver today was slower with trading in a few oils and mines resulting in slight advances.

Continental Oils went ahead another four cents to close at $1.50. Okalta slipped back to $4.35, as did Superior to $1.60. Most other oil issues were unchanged.

Mines followed the same pattern, earlier gains were held. Industrials were firmer at the close, with Canadian Western Lumber gaining fractionally to $10.

Come On, Baseball Fans

With the Feb. 1 deadline drawing ominously near, the fate of baseball in Victoria seems insecure. Debts of approximately $35,000 face the Athletics; if approximately $15,000 of that sum can be raised to clean up immediate obligations, there is every likelihood that the time limit will be extended by the Western International League.

Thus far, about $3,000 has been raised. Consequently, something like $12,000 must be raised this week if the sport is to be kept alive in this city.

The Victoria Daily Times thinks that baseball is worth preserving. We see it not in the limited sport sense, but as a firm civic asset. Its value to the city as a promotional enterprise is unquestioned. Each night that the Athletics play, box scores, line scores and stories of the game are carried by the wire services to every city and town on the Pacific coast.

The resultant publicity benefits are obvious. The name "Victoria" reaches the vast tourist audience where it is most needed. This in turn means more tourist dollars for transportation companies, merchants and others whose benefits are no less real, if somewhat more indirect.

We feel that baseball is properly the concern of civic groups—the tourist associations, automobile clubs, Chambers of Commerce (both Senior and Junior) and the service clubs. Their apathy to date seems to us short-sighted.

Victoria is a splendid sports town. When professional baseball came to Victoria after the war, this city was at the top of the league in attendance. In six seasons, more than 700,000 spectators have attended. Last year, with a team torn by internal dissension and strife, crowds fell off to 69,000. It has been estimated that 100,000 fans are enough to make the club break even.

Unless this last-week drive picks up, Victoria's franchise will be lost—and the likelihood is, will never be regained. This means not only the loss of professional baseball, with its attendant recreational and commercial benefits, but the loss of much-needed minor sport, as it is an axiom that the "pros" inspire and encourage the youngsters on the sandlots.

We feel sure that the great majority of Victorians want baseball. They have been promised a "new deal" in the way of new management and direction. In the belief that this great game deserves civic support, The Times is throwing its weight behind the current campaign.

We urge all sports-minded citizens to do their part. The only official outlet is through the Booster Club, with headquarters in the Douglas Hotel.

Apprehension Of Healer Valdez Demanded By Winnipeg Clergyman

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 28 (UP)—Rev. Dr. W. F. Martin, minister of Winnipeg's Grace United Church, declared in a sermon here Sunday night that the bludgeoning of a seven-year-old girl was "indirectly occasioned" by the visit of a "faith healer."

He called for the apprehension of Rev. A. C. Valdez Jr., who held a faith-healing campaign here from Jan. 6 to 20. Rev. Valdez makes his headquarters in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Lillian McCullough, 52, charged jointly with her husband in the slaying of her adopted daughter, was receiving treatment in the psychopathic ward of Winnipeg General Hospital today.

She was admitted to the hospital Sunday under police guard and placed under sedatives. Her husband, Gavin, 51, was under continuous guard at the police station here.

The couple turned police court into an uproar Saturday when they were charged with the death of their daughter, Martha Louise, whom they adopted as a baby.

The child's body was found Friday afternoon after police went to the McCullough home to question them on a "prayer session" they had held in a vacant lot in subzero temperatures, clad only in night attire. Mr. Mc-

Cullough suffered frost-bitten feet.

SCATTERED ABOUT HOUSE
Police found religious literature scattered about the house and furniture disarranged. The body of the child was found in an upstairs bedroom. An empty quart bottle, which police said was used to beat the child, was found nearby.

Mrs. McCullough had to be dragged into police court and shouted for her husband until taken out again.

The McCulloughs, described by neighbors as "deeply religious," had attended Rev. Valdez' faith healing sessions daily during his stay in Winnipeg.

Mr. Martin said in his sermon: "I consider that a large measure of responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the man who indirectly occasioned this tragedy."

"Had I the say, he would be brought back as a material witness in the case."

He told his congregation he was sorry for "this couple whose lives have been wrecked by this so-called mission."

Evangelist A. C. Valdez Jr., whose arrest has been demanded by a minister in Winnipeg in connection with the slaying of the doped daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin McCullough, is the same thick-set, dark-haired man whose persuasive voice was heard in Victoria, last August and September.

In a carnival-tent setting more than 2,000, at the corner of Quadra and Pembroke Street, Valdez "cursed" affliction and commanded the lame to walk, the blind to see, the deaf to hear.

He was advertised as "God's anointed, who has the gift of divine healing." He claimed that "thousands" were being saved and healed at his meetings.
